REPUBLICAN CANDIDATES COME TODAY

Great Mass Meeting to Be Held at Old City Hall Tonight.

RIGHT DOCTRINES TO BE EXPOUNDED

Judge Pennypacker and His Colleagues to Arrive Early This Afternoon.

INFORMAL RECEPTION AT DUQUESNE CLUB

The big Republican meeting to be held tonight in Old City hall promises to be a record-breaker. There have been other big Republican meetings in the historic edifice, but from reports received it is confidently expected that tonight's outpouring to hear the standard-bearer of the Republican party in Pennsylvania explain the weighty issues of the campaign will exceed all records.

All the preparations have been made. The committee to receive the distinguished visitors has been appointed, and an escort with bands and red fire will make memorable the progress of the candidates through the streets to the place of meeting. The candidates themselves will speak, and Congressman Littlefield of Maine is also expected to address the meeting, having started from Boston yesterday. There is some uncertainty as to Senator Boies Penrose, who may be unable to come, but if he should fail, some other brilliant speaker will take his place. Clarence Burleigh will preside over the gathering.

CLARENCE BURLEIGH.
An Allegheny county silver tongue who will preside at the big Republican mass meeting at Old City Hall tonight.

Judge S. W. Pennypacker and his colleagues on the Republican state ticket will arrive in Pittsburgh over the Pittsburgh & Lake Erie railroad at 2:20 p. m. At the station they will be met by Recorder J. O. Brown, chairman of the city committee, and by A. C. Robertson, Robertson, chairman of the county committee, who will escort them to the Duquesne club.

The party will take luncheon at the club. It was expected that during the afternoon they would take the rest needed after hard work they have gone through, but there has been such a united demand to meet them that it has been decided to hold an informal reception at the club, where Judge Pennypacker and his colleagues will meet those Republicans of the banner Republican county of the state who call on them.

At 7 p. m. the party will be ready to go to the meeting. At that hour the Young Men's Republican Tariff club and the Americus Republican club will march from the irrespective club to the Duquesne club to escort the candidates to Old City hall. The clubs will lead the march. The distinguished guests will ride in carriages. The parade will pass through the principal downtown streets.

PENNYPACKER WILL ARRIVE AT 2:20 P. M.

By CHESTER D. POTTER,
Staff Correspondent.

NEW CASTLE, PA., Sept. 18.—Judge Pennypacker and his party rest here tonight as guests of ex-Senator William M. Brown, Republican candidate for lieutenant governor. They will leave for Pittsburgh tomorrow noon and are scheduled to reach the Smoky City at 2:20 p. m.

It was the original intention to go direct from Erie to Pittsburgh. Powerful reasons were submitted in opposition to this plan, hence the change. Objections, it is said, were filed by the Republican organization, of which Recorder J. O. Brown is city chairman.

Details did not accompany the rumor, but it is whispered that an impression had found lodgment in the mind of the chairman that in case Judge Pennypacker spent a night and a day in Pittsburgh he might be kidnapped by the Citizens party leaders.

It was nearly 8 o'clock when the next governor of Pennsylvania, Senator Penrose, J. Allen Leeds and the other members of the party reached New Castle. Ex-Senator William M. Brown, who joined his colleagues at Erie, accompanied the party. Frank Saupp, Jr.; R. L. Lindsay, William Arbogast, Councilman Harry Diehl and George S. Houghton, members of Pittsburgh Republican clubs, also shared the hospitality of the special car. They remain here tonight and will do escort duty in the morning.

No speechmaking was on today's program. This morning Judge Pennypacker and Senator Penrose were given an opportunity to see the city of Erie. They were driven to the lake and afterward lunched at the Country club.

Republican County Chairman John B. Brown and an impromptu reception committee met the party at the station, Judge Pennypacker, Senator Penrose and Mr.

FRESHMAN AND SOPH ENGAGE IN FIERCE BATTLE

THREE BADLY HURT IN FIRST TUSSLE

There is war on between the sophomores and freshmen of Western university—bitter, vindictive war, the sort that occurs at the opening of college terms with the regularity of revolutions in South American republics. This morning, as the fruits of battle, there are battered heads, bruised and broken faces, eyes in mourning and anatomies that show generally forcible contact with all sorts of weapons, from bared elbows to tough heads that burrowed their way almost at will to the solar plexi of the warriors of both sides.

The class of 1906 may be fresh, but there is no doubt that the eggs with which they yesterday bombarded the sophomore ranks are not open to the same complaint. The sophomores concede this. In fact, they allege that the use of aged hen fruit was a violation of college ettiquette, for which their under classmen will have to suffer punishment.

Yesterday morning it devolved on the great and glorious class of '05 to deliver their defi to the younger brethren, but the unsophisticated freshmen, unused to the ways of college, did not take the hint and awaited more definite impressions upon their plastic minds. They came all right.

Defi Was Issued.

Several of the faculty, as they alighted from the car yesterday morning, were afflicted with something akin to an asthmatic croup. Commencing on the telegraph poles about the corner and continuing all the way up the terrace, and even upon the columns of the college building, were posters calculated to create consternation and despair within the freshmen ranks. In large type in green those poor freshies were ordered to "STOP! LOOK! HEED!

"According to custom it devolves upon us, the great and glorious class of 1905, to impress upon your young and receptive minds the following rules, which have been handed down to us by our revered predecessors."

Those rules strictly forbade the wearing of stiff hats, as freshmen heads needed room for cranial development. Congregating about the gym lockers was tabooed on penalty of having the showers used without stint upon all offenders. Above all, the hymn books used in chapel, must be tenderly used by freshmen hands, "as they belonged to '05 by right of purchase."

The Battle Begins.

This gross assumption of authority on the part of the second classmen was not to be tolerated, and war was immediately declared. It was decided in chapel that freshmen could smile at co-eds if they wanted to, or chew tobacco, no matter what a sophomore said. The statement issued by the sophs that gum hose was sweeter than tobacco was denied in toto. The admonition that was responsible for the immediate precipitation of hostilities, however, was that which appeared among the others on the poster: "Don't act as if you knew it all; you don't pay for all you get. Ask mother."

At 10 o'clock yesterday morning both sides cleared for action, but at the earnest solicitation of the dean of the college a truce was declared until afternoon. The pretty co-eds of the sophomores cheered their brothers on to the conflict. With their own dainty fingers they constructed a flag which was hoisted and the warriors of the class rallied around the pole. They formed in hollow squares about their treasure to meet the attacking foes, and they hadn't time to get nervous before the entire freshman class charged up the hill upon the defending host.

Eggs Were in Evidence.

While the boom of artillery and the rattle of musketry were absent, big shell fell with remarkable precision and scattered flour over the ranks of the combatants, and the odor of the powder used was in painful evidence as the freshmen discharged hen-fruit of uncertain age upon their unlucky foes. A dozen volleys made the sophs look like Spanish flags in tatters, and the girl co-eds had all they could do carrying water to wash off the stains.

Seeing that the day was going against them the older boys employed the flying wedge and succeeded in driving their enemis down the hill. That wedge did awful carnage. Shooting out from the defending line it would plow into the freshmen. Some of them would get up looking for all the world as if they had been up in somebody's peach tree before the peaches were ripe. Others would roll their eyes about in that I-don't-care-if-I-were-dead expression so often seen in people who are on their first sea voyage, and still others didn't get up until water had been freely used. Lots of fellows got under the pump to freshen up a bit before going home to bed, and it will be many a day before they will set easily on the class room benches.

Sophomores Still Vengeful.

The sophomores won. Through four hours of fierce battling their colors waved proudly and remained until taken down at 9:30 last night, when tthey were acknowledged as victors.

The victors, however, sustained the greatest loss. After the first charge three of their men, J. Carpenter of Homewood, Wayne McKee of St. Clair street and Guy Jackson of Perrysville, were carried off the field unconscious. It took 15 minutes of very hard work to bring Carpenter around, but the other two were revived without trouble. Carpenter's shoulder is dislocated. McKee is suffering from several bad bruises, including a nicely decorated eye, and Jackson has a sprained ankle.

That egg incident is likely to prolong the struggle. The sophomores, though they were declared victorious, are determined to even up for the disfigurement to which thy were subjected by that awful fusillade, and from present indications the faculty of the Western university will have a hard row to hoe for some weeks to come.

TOMMY ROSS MAKES HIT.

"On the Quiet" Opens the Season to Crowded House at Norfolk.

NORFOLK, VA., Sept. 18.—(Special.)—"On the Quiet," Will Collier's old success, seems destined to prove equally successful with Tommy Ross, the Pittsburgh actor, in the title roll. The play opened here tonight to a crowded house and Ross scored a big hit.

John B. Reynolds of Pittsburgh, manager of the company, who is out this season for the first time on his own hook, is very much pleased with the opening, and thinks it augurs well for the season.

CARBOLIC ACID GIVEN BY MISTAKE CAUSES DEATH

Dr. D. L. Wasser Victim of the Nurse's Carelessness at West Penn Hospital.

YOUNG WOMAN FRANTIC

Dr. Daniel L. Wasser, a physician, whose office was at No. 325 South Highland avenue, East End, died at the West Penn hospital at 6:30 o'clock last evening. His death was the result of an error made by one of the nurses attending him and the case had to be reported to the coroner's office.

Dr. Wasser was ill with typhoid fever and on Monday was removed to the West Penn hospital for treatment. Last evening he was given an injection of carbolic acide by mistake. He collapsed and died immediately. At midnight the death was reported to the morgue.

The injection was mixed by a nurse and administered by one of the orderlies. There were two bottles standing side by side, one containing carbolic acid and the other sweet oil. Instead of the oil bottle the nurse got hold of the carbolic acid bottle and without discovering her mistake made the mixture with it. Two minutes after it was administered Dr. Wasser was dead. When the nurse learned of the error she became frantic and with great difficulty was restrained, creating quite a scene in the hospital.

Dr. Wasser was married, not long ago, to a Brooklyn woman. His widow was prostrated by the sudden blow and could not be seen last night at their home, No. 325 South Highland avenue.

Dr. Wasser was 29 years of age. He was born in Yorkshire, England, and was graduated from a medical school in that country. He came to the United States 14 years ago. His mother, who also survives him, lives in Yorkshire.

NO MASKS ARE WORN BY OREGON LYNCHERS

Mob Shoots Negro and Hangs Body to Beam of Bridge—Two Days' Affair.

[BY ASSOCIATED PRESS TO THE GAZETTE.]

MARSHFIELD, ORE., Sept. 18.—Alonzo Tucker, negro, who assaulted Mrs. Dennis near Libby yesterday, was lynched today. A body of coal miners, heavily armed, marched into town last evening. The marshal, who had Tucker in custody, attempted to take him from the jail just as the miners entered and a rush was made for the negro.

He managed to give his custodian the slip, jumped under the wharf into the mud flats, and eluded both officers and mob until today. The miners stationed armed guards at every point of egress from the city. The patrol was kept up all night, and at one time there was talk of lynching the officers who allowed Tucker to escape.

Every corner of the town was searched and finally two boys located the fugitive under a store. The boys fired at him with air guns and drove him from his hiding place. As he emerged a ball from a rifle caught him in the right leg.

Tucker ran into a store and was followed by the miners, who started to hang him in the store, but they decided to take him to the scene of the crime. A start was made, but the negro died from his wounds, and the mob hanged the body to a beam on the South Marshfield bridge.

Not a masked man was in the crowd, and everything was done in broad daylight.

[BY ASSOCIATED PRESS TO THE GAZETTE.]

County Treasurer John Lynch and N. Davis, a prominent attorney, were seriously injured, and about 15 people, who were in the building at the time of the collapse, are believed to be buried in the ruins.

The work of clearing away the debris was commenced at once. So far no bodies have been found, but it is impossible to tell who are in the ruins. Postmaster Fugeise came out without injury.

The loss on the building is estimated at $7,000, while the government's loss is not known. The mail is in bad condition and it will be several days before the damage to it can be estimated.

The offices of two weekly papers were in the building and went down with the wreck.

BISHOP FALLOWS BEGINS HIS TRIP IN MINE REGION

Says Operators Made Mistake In Opposing Arbitration of Strike Differences.

LEADERS CAUSE ARRESTS

[BY ASSOCIATED PRESS TO THE GAZETTE.]

Wilkesbarre, Pa., Sept. 18.—Bishop Fallows of Chicago arrived here tonight. He visited eight collieries and a washery en route from Philadelphia and found none at work. On the same train was John Markle of the firm of G. B. Markle & Co., who have represented the individual coal interests at all of the conferences of the operators. He said that after conversing with Mr. Markle and the miners he had reached the conclusion that the operators had made a mistake in opposing arbitration of their differences.

Tonight strike leaders sprung a surprise when they caused the arrest of Faul Yyoda, a deputy sheriff, George Gilbert and William Jenkins, members of the miners' examining board, charging them with having issued certificates to non-unionists who had not served two years in the mines, as required by law. They were held under bail for court.

President Mitchell tonight denied the reports that he had prepared a demand in which the terms for a settlement of the big strike were modifid and had forwarded it to J. Pierpont Morgan, with a note saying that the financier would be given until October 20 to accept the proposition.

"There is nothing in that report," is all he would say.

HENDERSON'S ACTION SUDDENLY DECIDED

His Secretary Says the Cause, of Which He Is Ignorant, Must Have Arisen Since Sunday.

[SPECIAL TELEGRAM TO THE GAZETTE.]

WASHINGTON, D. C., Sept. 18.—Julian W. Richards of Iowa, secretary to Speaker Henderson, arrived in Washington today and only added to the mystery that surrounds the speaker's sensational withdrawal. When asked for an explanation, Mr. Richards said he had nothing to say, and that he knew nothing of the speaker's motives.

When Mr. Richards last saw the speaker, Mr. Henderson had no intention of withdrawing from the contest, and even a week ago was preparing to continue the fight. If there be any hidden motive in the speaker's action it has come to the front since last Sunday.

Other Iowa friends, both personal and political, of Gen. Henderson, who have been in Washington today, have suggested that possibly the speaker might have felt slighted because he was not asked to the Oyster Bay conference on the tariff last Tuesday, which was the day he announced his intention of withdrawing. It was also suggested by these men that the campaign which had been begun against the speaker by the Prohibitionists might have had some influence in his withdrawal, but no one of the speaker's friends would admit that any one or even two of the reasons were sufficient cause for his action.

DUBUQUE, IA., Sept. 18.—The Republican congressional committee of the Third district met here today and decided to call a convention at New Hampton, Ia., September 25, to consist of the delegates to the convention which nominated Col. Henderson, to nominate a candidate to succeed him. Resolutions of regret for Henderson's withdrawal were adopted.

It is announced tonight that Speaker Henderson does not intend to resign the speakership at the coming session of congress.

SALISBURY SERIOUSLY ILL IN SWITZERLAND

Has Sent for His Personal Physician and London Is Much Alarmed.

[ASSOCIATED PRESS CABLE TO THE GAZETTE.]

LONDON, Sept. 19.—The Times this morning says:

"We learn that Lord Salisbury, who is in Switzerland, is ill and confined to his bed. An English and a Swiss doctor have been attending him and it is understood that his lordship's own attendant in London has been sent for."

Lord Salisbury has been touring the health resorts of Southern Europe for several weeks. Visitors to Switzerland have seen him riding a bicycle. He always kept much to himself and attracted little attention. His lordship's health has been failing and the announcement of the Times, although carefully worded, causes alarm.

HARRISBURG, Sept. 18.—Gov. Stone this afternoon appointed Norris S. Barratt of Philadelphia, common pleas judge to fill the vacancy created by the resignation of Samuel W. Pennypacker, the Republican nominee for governor. Mr. Barratt has already been nominated by the Republicans and Democrats.

BURLY THIEF IS SHOT DEAD AT FORD CITY

USED ROBBER'S OWN REVOLVER

VICTIM HAD SERVED A TERM IN PRISON

[SPECIAL TELEGRAM TO THE GAZETTE.]

Ford City, Pa., Sept. 18.—Carl Reichards, night station agent here of the Allegheny Valley railroad, shot and killed Charles Andrews of St. Louis, known as the "Lone Burglar," about 5 o'clock this morning. The little operator of 140 pounds bested the burly thief of 175 pounds in a wrestle, as both men fought for their livese on the floor of the station.

Reichards swiftly dealt the intruder a blow in the face which caused the burglar to stagger. Reichards grasped the revolver; the thief grappled with him and both went down on the floor. The thief being the heavier weighted Reichards down and twisted the revolver about, pulling the trigger, the bullet glancing along Reichards' head. The station agent wrested the revolver from the desperado and freed himself, both springing to their feet. As the burglar advanced on him Reichards fired twice, hitting his man, once in the side and then in the head. The robber fell forward on the station floor, dead.

Reichards stepped over to his telegraph instrument and ticked a message to the Pittsburgh headquarters that he had killed an intruder who had attempted to rob the station. He also wired to Kittanning for a police officer, none being about the lonely station. The policeman summoned Dr. Hosterman, who examined the dead man. He dressed the wounds of Reichards.

Coroner H. B. Stone impaneled a jury and the dead man was identified as Charles Andrews of St. Louis, who had been known as the "lone burglar." He had recently served a term in the Western penitentiary for a burglary committed at Nealton, near this place. Andrews, at that time, swore he would kill every one implicated in sending him to the penitentiary, including Former Judge Rayburn, who sentenced him. At the time of his conviction he acted as his own attorney and convicted himself by asking the witnesses questions and contradicting them.

Reichards was held blameless by the coroner's jury. He came here recently from Dubois. Andrews was seen about the station several times during the day, and when spoken to by a railroad employe left hurriedly.

MURDERED WOMAN FOUND IN A CANAL

Identified by a Man Who Bore an Assumed Name and Said the Victim Was His Wife.

[SPECIAL TELEGRAM TO THE GAZETTE.]

NEW YORK, Sept. 18.—Late tonight the body of a murdered woman, found in the Morris canal, between Newark and Jersey City, was identified by a man who gave his name as Joseph P. Pulitzer of No. 16 West Forty-sixth street. He said she was his wife.

The discovery of the body was made by the driver of an express wagon passing along the plank road on the bank of the canal on the meadows. An attempt had been made to sink it with a 20-pound iron weight attached to a long hitching strap, the other end of which was tied around the waist. A long stab wound was found in the abdomen, and a later examination by the county physician revealed the fact that the skull was fractured. Dr. Converse thought that probably two days had elapsed since the woman was killed, but that the body had been in the water only a few hours.

The body was removed to Jersey City and Chief of Police Murphy put all his available detectives upon the case.

Pulitzer has been living under the name of Kingston with the woman at the Forty-sixth street address, a boarding house kept by Mrs. Eva Fleming. Detectives went up to the house before Pulitzer had returned from Jersey City tonight and made a thorough search of the rooms. Mr. and Mrs. Kingston, as the couple were known, occupied the third floor back room.

On Tuesday evening Mrs. Fleming said Pulitzer complained of feeling ill and that his wife went out about midnight, saying that she would get him some fruit. Mrs. Fleming said she did not see Pulitzer again until this morning, when he told her his wife was missing and that he had been telephoning to her relatives in the hope of finding some trace of her. This afternoon he went to police headquarters and gave a description of the missing woman. He returned home to dinner, when he was shown an evening paper containing an account of the finding of the body, and on reading the description, which tallied with that of his wife, hurried to Jersey City where he at once identified the body.

After the identification Pulitzer was detained by Chief Murphy, who telephoned to police headquarters in this city that he regarded the case as "very suspicious."

THIEF TOOK SATCHEL FULL OF VALUABLES

Emanuel De Roy Robbed of $3,000 in Trinkets and $40 Cash.

Emanuel DeRoy, the Smithfield street jeweler, who lives at No. 1208 Sheffield street, Allegheny, was robbed at his home yesterday afternoon of a valise containing $3,000 in jewelry and $40 in cash. Mr. DeRoy charges the theft to Robert Dunbar, a colored laborer, whose services he secured through a Grant street employment agency, to aid in preparations to move to Newark, N. J.

The missing valise was in a closet in the dining room. Mrs. DeRoy was upstairs packing trunks and Dunbar was alone downstairs. The colored man and the valise disappeared simultaneously and nothing has been seen of either since. The police think Dunbar is a professional thief.

A LEAD COMBINE WITH A CAPITAL OF $200,000,000

Project Is to Include the American Smelting & Refining Co.

BENJ. GUGGENHEIM IS THE PROMOTER

THE PITTSBURGH GAZETTE BUREAU,
Herald Building, Herald Square,
NEW YORK, Sept. 18.

The movement to combine the principal white lead and lead manufacturing interests of the country, which has been under way for some time, has expanded into the plans for a vast combination taking in the American Smelting & Refining Company, the National Lead Company, the Union Lead & Oil works and a large number of lead and zinc properties in Missouri in which the chief stockholders of the smelting combine are interested or upon which they have options.

That negotiations with such an outcome in view are pending is admitted by persons intimately connectetd with the movement and is not denied by any of the interests concerned. It is said there is still considerable doubt whether the attempt will meet with success, but the principal interests are sanguine of the result.

The company probably will be known as the American Metals Company and will have a capital of $150,000,000 or $200,000,000. The smelter combine is capitalized at $100,000,000, the National Lead Company at $30,000,000, the Union Lead and Oil works at $10,000,000 and the combination of Missouri zinc properties, now in process of formation, at probably $20,000,000.

The Brain Back of the Combine.

The projected combination is the individual undertaking of Benjamin Guggenheim of M. Guggenheim's Sons. This firm controls the American Smelting and Refining Company. As it always has been the policy of the Guggenheims to capitalize their concerns conservatively, it is not likely that the new combine will be capitalized at more than $200,000,000, although obviously the enormous value of the properties involved offers an excellent opportunity for a stock issue of sensational proportions.

It was learned from trustworthy sources that the principal parties to the negotiations are Benjamin Guggenheim and Thomas F. Ryan, the latter acting on behalf of himself and William C. Whitney. Mr. Ryan originally was interested in the Union Lead and Oil works, which, by the use of the Bailey method of corroding, was disputing with the National Lead Company for control of the market for the latter's chief product, white lead. President Cole of the National company then entertained Thomas F. Ryan's overtures for amalgamation, and together they enlarged the scope of their plans so as to take in the principal sheet lead and lead pipe plants.

As their success would have made them almost the only patrons of the smelter combine in the lead branch, Mr. Guggenheim broached the subject of a combination immensely wider in its scope than any the other two had dreamed of.

United Metals Not in It.

It was rumored today that the United Metals Selling Company was also to be included, but it can be said positively the Lewisohns have no part whatever in the negotiations.

The National Lead Company is not now controlled by any one important interest, and it is understood the stock is very widely distributed. The company has weathered some periods of deep general business depression since its organization in 1886 and has paid its preferred dividends for many years without a break. The profits never have been very large, but it may be that the interest which seems now to be seeking control ses a way to increase them materially, probably in combination with some kindred industry.

E. W. HARDEN.

It was stated yesterday by an officer of the Bailey-Farrell Manufacturing Company, lead and brass manufacturers of this city, that this company will not join the proposed consolidation. The formation of this company has been delayed during the last two months by the absence of many of the leading officers of the constituent companies on their vacations or abroad.

It is expected, however, that the next month will see decisive action taken one way or the other, and all the indications point to the deal going through.

It is proposed that the new company's capital shall be $150,000,000, its headquarters will be in New York. So far as known the Bailey-Farrell company is the only Pittsburgh concern which has been asked to join it. Whether this concern will reconsider its present determination remains to be seen.

CALL TO DR. BARNES FROM MASSACHUSETTS.

Pittsburgh Baptist Minister Will Probably Accept a Pastorate at Worcester.

WORCESTER, MASS., Sept. 18.—(Special.)—By a unanimous rising vote, in which 250 members participated, the Rev. Dr. Lemuel C. Barnes of the Fourth Avenue Baptist church of Pittsburgh was called to the First Baptist church of Worcester today. Letters highly indorsing him as a pastor and preacher from his former parishoners in Newton Center and a letter from Dr. Barnes saying he would accept a call if unanimously tendered, brought about the action of the church.

The salary will be $4,000 a year, with six weeks' vacation and a grant of $500 for moving expenses.

Dr. Barnes is in the prime of life and is considered one of the leading men in the Baptist denomination. He possesses great ability as an organizer.

Dr. Lemuel Call Barnes is one of the best known pastors of Pittsburgh. He was asked last evening to make a statement on the subject of his call, but would not say a word. Dr. Barnes came first to Pittsburgh in 1882, and for five and one-half years was in charge of the Fourth avenue church. After that he became pastor of the Baptist church at Newton Center, an aristocratic suburb of Boston. He returned to Pittsburgh in 1893 to become again pastor of the Fourth avenue church, and has remained in the position since. Under his guidance it has increased in membership from 400 to 800. It ranks with the leading churches of the city of all denominations and is the most prominent of the Baptist churches.

THE YELLOW PERIL AGAIN THREATENING

Outrages and Massacres Break Out Frequently Throughout China.

CONGER STIRS UP PEKING OFFICIALS

SEVERAL AMERICANS IN DEADLY DANGER

THE PITTSBURGH GAZETTE BUREAU,
Herald Building, Herald Square,
NEW YORK, Sept. 18.

A special to the Herald from Washington says:

That the Boxer outrages of 1900 may be repeated in the Chinese province of Szechuen is the opinion of missionaries who have appealed to United States Minister Conger at Peking for protection. Mr. Conger has demanded of the Chinese authoritiees immediate suppression of the disturbances in the district, where already several native Christians have been massacred and a chapel burned. On account of his obvious inability to cope with the situation, Kwei Chun, viceroy of Szechuen, has been removed from office.

MINISTER EDWIN H. CONGER.

Mr. Conger, in a dispatch under date of August 6, says:

"I have the honor to report serious anti-foreign riots near Chetu in the province of Szechuen, in which a number of native Christians have been massacred and chapels destroyed. My only information from our missionaries is contained in two telegrams from Dr. Canright, which I inclose, together with copies of my telegraphic reply."

Edicts of No Avail.

Mr. Conger at once addressed Prince Ching, informing him of the outrages, asking their suppression, and saying the lessons of experience showed these troubles should be stamped out at their inception. To this Prince Ching answered that instructions had been sent to Szechuen to put down the trouble and appropriate edicts had been promulgated. These evidently were of no avail, for on July 29 Mr. Conger received from Mr. Canright this telegram:

"Demanded protection in vain. Massacres and robberies daily. All are in great danger."

Thereupon Mr. Conger addressed Prince Ching again, in the course of his letter saying:

"There are many American missionaries in that province, and it is my duty to demand their full and complete protection."

Mr. Conger also reports: "I have had, besides, two personal interviews at the foreign office in which I have endeavored to impress upon them the importance of immediate and effective action, and it was useless to send out orders to officials which were not obeyed."

The troubles appear to arise principally from extortionate taxation combined with resentment against the presence of missionaries.

Text of Imperial Edict.

Some time ago a number of local outlaws banded together in the district of Tze-Yang and made trouble; whereupon I dispatched troops to disperse them. The leading criminal, Li Kang Chung, and others were arrested and executed, but now the magistrate of the place, Ma Ch'eng Chi, reports that at T'ien-Ku-Chiao in his district, outlaws over 1,000 strong suddenly made a night attack and destroyed a church which the British or American society had built. The preacher, Chu Ch'eng Wei, and four church members also were killed. They also burned some houses and killed the Christians. I sent troops in all haste as deputies besides an official with rank of [illegible] to proceed with braves to attend to this [illegible].

Such fierce and lawless outbreaks [illegible] certainly be quickly put down. They [illegible] on no account be allowed to spread. We command Kwei Chun to strictly order the troops to disperse the rebels and their followers, to seize the ringleaders and to punish them according to the rigor of the law, and so nip the rebellion in the bud.

We feel a great pity for the missionary or preacher and others who, for no fault of theirs, have lost their lives, and command that adequate relief may be at once given.

As for Ma Ch'eng Chi, the magistrate of Tze-Yang, who, it is said, has not long been in the office, because he was remiss in taking precautionary measures, we demand that he be removed from office and that he be given a limited time within which to capture the criminals.

PEKING, Sept. 18.—The Boxer attack on Cheng-Tu-Fu, capital of Szechuen province, in which 50,000 Boxers made ineffectual attempts to take the city, began September 15. When the rebels endeavored to enter the city a conflict ensued. The attackers were driven back and the gates of the city were closed and guarded by troops. Soldiers quelled the disorder within the city.

Fourteen Boxer leaders and several other rebels were executed. A new viceroy and new military officials are now on their way to Cheng-Tu-Fu to assume charge there.

TWO DEMOCRATS NOMINATED HERE FOR CONGRESS

Democratic Conferees Meet from Twenty-Second and Twenty-Third Districts.

PROMINENT MEN QUICKLY CHOSEN

O. W. Kennedy of Fayette and Charles M. Heineman of Butler Are Named and the Democrats Are Hopeful as Usual.

The Democrats of the Twenty-third congressional district yesterday nominated O. W. Kennedy, general superintendent of the plants of the H. C. Frick Coke Company and a resident of Uniontown, for congress. Mr. Kennedy is a prominent man in the district and the Democrats say the only thing they fear is that he will not be able to accept the nomination.

The conferees met at the Monongahela house in this city and Mr. Kennedy was nominated by acclamation. Albert Helsley, John Boyle and H. G. Staggers were appointed as a committee to notify him of the nomination, at Mr. Kennedy's convenience. The conferees were: Somerset county, S. C. Collins, Albert Hessley and A. B. Groff; Greene county, W. O. Headlee, John F. Pauley and H. G. Staggers; Fayette county, R. W. Dawson, John Boyle and Andrew Gregg Curtin Shervondy. Pauley presided, and the secretaries were Goff and Shervondy.

The Democratic conferees of the Twenty-second congressional district, consisting of Butler and Westmoreland, met at the Seventh Avenue hotel last evening and nominated Charles M. Heineman, editor of the Butler Times, for congress. Mr. Heineman was born in Butler county, in 1862; was educated in the common schools of the county and the Witherspoon Institute, and has been in the newspaper business for 18 years.

The Big Rally of Citizens.

Final preparations for the Citizens party meeting to be held tomorrow night in Old City hall, were made yesterday at Citizens headquarters. D. D. Bruce, the veteran reformer, will act as chairman of the meeting. The following will speak: R. H. Douglas, James W. Brown, W. J. Brennen, George Shiras III., W. B. Rodgers and H. Kirke Porter.

The Citizens party workers in Etna and neighboring boroughs will hold a series of open air meetings. The first will be held on Thursday evening, September 25, in the West Etna baseball park. The committee in charge of the arrangements is composed of W. J. Smith, chairman; Herman Harmon, George Kane, Wesley Hughes, Gustave Stilz, George Schlumpf and E. J. Eckert. A street parade, with music, will precede the meeting and the choir of striking anthracite miners will sing.

The Democratic and Citizens party chairmen again call attention to the fact that October 4 is the last day on which tax receipts can be obtained. Circulars are being sent out to voters to remind them to pay their taxes.

The opening of the Citizens headquarters in the Fourteenth ward last night was a somewhat elaborate affair. The headquarters are in Forbes street near Oakland avenue. The rooms were crowded and several hundred persons who were unable to gain admittance overflowed on the sidewalk. The choir from the anthracite coal regions sang several selections. H. Kirke Porter, Citizens candidate for congress from the district; Robert J. Cunningham, J. J. Miller, Councilman W. J. Stevenson and several others made speeches. All the addresses were brief, for all the speakers were billed to speak at other meetings. W. J. Moore was chairman of the meeting.

Rally on the South Side.

Another enthusiastic Citizens party meeting was held last night in Schiller Glock hall, at South Twenty-sixth and Jane streets. The meeting was more of a social gathering to introduce to the people J. W. Brown, the Citizens candidate for congress for the Thirty-second district. Ex-Mayor Andrew Fulton made an address and got quite an ovation. The other speakers were Benjamin Weaver and W. U. Willett, candidates for legislature from the Fifth district. J. H. Burtt was chairman of the meeting.

The Democratic committee on meetings and speakers met yesterday afternoon and completed arrangements for the Democratic meeting in Old City Hall on Saturday, September 27. The state candidates, Pattison, Guthrie and Nolan, will arrive in the city on the afternoon of that day and will be quartered at the Monongahela house. A public reception will be held at 7 o'clock, after which the speakers will be escorted through the principal downtown streets to the hall.

Meetings for Tonight.

A Citizens party mass meeting will be held tonight in Kean's auditorium in Butler street, Lawrenceville. Many of the fusion candidates will speak. A mass meeting will be also held at the Citizens headquarters in Homestead tonight.

The Democratic campaign committee of Sharpsburg met last night with a full attendance of members, who displayed much enthusiasm for the fusion county, legislative and congressional tickets.

An enthusiastic meeting of the Citizens party of the Ninth ward, Allegheny was held last night. The attendance was large.

The Nineteenth ward headquarters of the Citizens party will be opened tonight, and several of the fusion candidates will be present. James M. McKee is in charge.

Colored voters of the Fifth legislative district met last night at their headquarters in Shakespeare street, to prepare for the meeting to be held on Monday night in Smith's hall, when the Citizens ticket will be indorsed.

LIEUT. PEARY RETURNS.

The Explorer Did Not Reach the Pole, But Is Still Hopeful.

[BY ASSOCIATED PRESS TO THE GAZETTE.]

SYDNEY, N. S., Sept. 18.—The Peary Arctic club's relief steamer Windward, with Lieut. Robert E. Peary on board, arrived at North Sydney at 8:15 this morning from Greenland. Peary did not succeed in reaching the pole, but he announces that he made important discoveries.

When Peary stepped from the Windward to the wharf no one would have supposed that he had braved the rigors of a winter in the Polar regions. His face was bronzed, but he looked the picture of health.

Mrs. Peary and her daughter, who went with the Windward to meet him, looked well, although the former is just recovering from an illness.

Dr. Diedrick was on board and quite well. As far as can be learned the difference between him and Lieut. Peary has not been patched up.

LODGED IN JAIL UPON CHARGE OF EMBEZZLEMENT

Cashier Clawson, of Homewood Bank, Returned from Canada.

DEFALCATION IS GIVEN OUT AS $3,200

John A. Clawson, cashier of the People's Bank of Homewood, was committed to the Allegheny county jail last night by Alderman J. V. McMasters on charges of embezzlement and altering a written instrument, on the information of Carl C. Law, secretary of the Mercantile Trust Company, for a hearing on Saturday. Later in the evening his mother went on his bond for $4,000 and he was liberated. Clawson is alleged to have misappropriated $3,200 a few weeks ago. Clawson was arrested last night at his residence, No. 541 Clawson street.

Injudicious investments and fast living are given as the causes of Clawson's trouble. He is said to have lost $1,600 of the bank's money in the stock market and squandered the balance. When he left the bank he took $1,600 in cash. When he returned from Canada he was penniless.

The manner in which Clawson secured the funds of the bank was simple, but foolhardy. According to the bank officials, when the deposit was made he credited the amount in the customer's book, but made no record of the amount in the bank ledgers. He secured about $1,600 in this manner. He also placed his individual note in the bank and then erased the original figures and lessened the amount. The note was paid by him, and he pocketed the difference.

Went to Canada.

His peculations were not discovered until a short time ago. When he realized that he was about to be detected he took $1,600 of the bank's funds and disappeared. He went to Canada and took a young friend with him. While in Canada he spent this money in a reckless manner. His friend came to this city last week and revealed his whereabouts. Clawson had exhausted his funds and returned to his home Monday evening.

During his absence his mother attempted to settle the defalcation with the banking institution. The board of directors decided to give young Clawson a chance to repay the amount of his defalcation.

They held a special meeting yesterday afternoon for the purpose of considering Clawson's proposition. The former cashier did not appear at the meeting, but his mother did. She agreed to give the bank $1,600 if they would not prosecute her son.

Placed Under Arrest.

The board of directors refused to consider this proposition and immediately notified Attorney Stephen Stone of the Mercantile Trust Company, and he instructed Secretary Law to go to Alderman McMasters' office and make information against Clawson. Officers were immediately detailed to Clawson's house and placed him under arrest. He was brought to the jail.

Later his mother sought Alderman McMasters and went on his bond. Clawson was then liberated. A bond of $1,000 was accepted on the charge of altering a written instrument and $3,000 was given on the charge of embezzlement. Clawson took his arrest quietly. He smiled when the officers read the warrant to him and consented to accompany them to the jail.

Clawson was considered a bright young man. He was 30 years old and had been with the Homewood Peoples bank for a number of years and was recently appointed as cashier. Among those who knew him best, however, he had a reputation of being fond of a gay life.

AUGUSTINIANS ORDER PRIESTS TO PHILIPPINES

Important Step Taken Towards Solving Trouble Regarding Friars.

DOZEN VOLUNTEERS, AND TWO CHOSEN

Men to Be Sent Are Pioneers for American Clergy—They Are Members of the Order—The Pope in Role of Peacemaker.

[BY ASSOCIATED PRESS TO THE GAZETTE.]

Philadelphia, Sept. 18.—An important step toward the solution of the troubles in the Philippine islands, caused by the presence of the Spanish friars there, was taken today at Villa Nova college, when the Most. Rev. Thomas Rodriquez, O. S. A., of Rome, prior general of the Augustinian order throughout the world, announced that the Rev. Daniel J. O. O'Mahony of Andover, Mass., and the Rev. J. E. McErlaine of Villa Nova had been ordered to the Philippines as pioneers in the movement of American priests to those islands to succeed the Spaniards.

The two priests will leave for Manila within the next two weeks and will be followed in a short time, it is believed, by several other American Augustinians.

Both clergymen chosen are distinguished and able members of the order. They were selected from among about a dozen volunteers who offered their services to the prior-general in case he needed American Augustinians for the Philippines.

Friars Members of Order.

"We go there to carry out the program which has been decided on by the prior-general," said Father O'Mahony this afternoon. "We are fully cognizant of the great work done by the friars of ours and other orders in the Philippines, and go to them as brothers working in the same cause. We have no idea how long we will remain or how many American Augustinians will be sent to the islands."

The announcement was made during the celebration of the feast of St. Thomas, patron of Villa Nova, which was observed with impressive exercises.

At 8 a. m. high mass was celebrated by Prior General Rodriquez, and at 11 o'clock a reception was tendered to the distinguished Augustinian, who has been in this country little more than a month. The American provincial, the Rev. Martin J. Geragty, delivered an address of welcome to the prior general on behalf of the American province, which takes in all the communities of the order in the United States. An address was also made by the Rev. L. A. Delury, president of Villa Nova. All the addresses were delivered in Latin.

Pope as Peacemaker.

The prior general, in replying to the welcome, among other things said:

"Throughout all time the governments of the world have appealed to the sovereign pontiff as a peacemaker. The American government has appealed to him, and rightly so, to settle the troubles in the Philippines.

"We have no fear of the outcome. Prejudice and cant must be put aside and the facts only considered. God fearing men will do right and justice.

"Unfortunately, nearly all the statements furnished from abroad to the American press on the friar question are filled with calumny and mendacity in regard to the friars in the islands. We do not blame the Philippine commission for any of the opinions that body holds, for we know the information furnished to it was mainly obtained from our enemies, men who have stopped at nothing to villify and malign our brothers.

"I speak not as one who does not know the conditions in the Philippines, I speak with a personal knowledge of the priests and the people."

A LITTLE BY-PLAY TO YESTERDAY'S PERFORMANCE IN GRAND OPERA HOUSE

"A Stranger In a Strange Land" yesterday afternoon had a dual presentation in the Grand Opera House—upon the stage and in the rear of the parquette circle. While the matinee girls were giggling over the funny incidents in the comedy, an angered husband catechised a would-be masher in severe fashion. A lonely usher witnessed the unfolding of a lively theme for a good, snappy farce. Here it is in a nutshell:

CAST.

Would-be Masher..........................An Allegheny Clerk.
Irate Husband......................A Well-Known Alleghenian.
Victim of the Masher......................Alleghenian's Wife.

Scene I. Alleghenian's Home, High Noon.

Victim—Here I have just received a ticket to the matinee this afternoon from "Would-be Masher." He says I cannot afford to miss seeing the funny play, and sends one ticket. He sends word that he will have a seat beside me.

Husband—"Would-be" is the young man who has persisted in calling around here during my absence, is he not?

Victim—Yes; and I wish you would attend to his case.

Husband—I'll do it. I'm sorry, my dear, that you will be obliged to miss the show, but I'm going to the matinee myself. Good-by.

Scene II. Rear of Opera House Auditorium, 2:30 p. m.

Husband—Usher, go down there in the orchestra and tell Would-be Masher, in seat No. ———, center block, that a lady desires to speak to him.

(Would-be Masher leaves his seat in ecstacy and rushes after the usher. Husband watches him from his coign of vantage and does a Highland fling. Masher sees Husband. He tries to dissolve into thin air. Through the courtesy of the orchestra low music was played at this point.)

Husband—I am the proxy of the lady to whom you sent that ticket. Thank you very much. I think I shall enjoy the show, but don't you think it would be better to keep your tickets in your own family? Hereafter, when you desire to show kindness to another man's wife, you had better come around when papa is at home and get his consent.

(Curtain.)

WIFE IS DYING OF WOUND MADE BY HER HUSBAND

Ludwick Woman is Fatally Shot and Man Is Now In Jail.

PUBLIC INDIGNANT OVER SHOOTING

It Is Claimed That Three Shots Were Fired After the Victim Had Fallen Down Stairs—Prisoner Expresses Sorrow.

[SPECIAL TELEGRAM TO THE GAZETTE.]

Greensburg, Pa., Sept. 18.—Mrs. Francisco Strausser, who was shot this morning at her home in Ludwick by her husband, Frank L. Strausser, cannot survive the night. The bullet from a 38-caliber revolver went through the spine, cutting off a portion of the kidneys, and she is dying of internal hemorrhages.

The shooting occurred at 5 o'clock this morning. Strausser had returned from Pittsburgh, where he had been working, last night. A family quarrel began soon after his arrival, which was renewed this morning and ended in the husband drawing his revolver and firing. Only one bullet took effect, but Strausser fired three times, it is said, after his wife had fallen down a flight of stairs. Public indignation is at fever heat tonight over the shooting.

Eight children were born to the couple. The wife took in washing and acted as janitress in some of the biggest office buildings in town for years, that she might educate the children.

Strausser had never worked steadily about Greensburg. When seen at the jail tonight he expressed sorrow, but stated that he had long been the object of abuse on the part of his family. He said that when he arrived home last night his wife upbraided him. When the quarrel was begun again this morning he said he lost his senses completely.

He has generally been considered a shiftless character about Greensburg, working at whatever odd jobs he could secure and leaving the entire support of his family to his wife. He has served a number of jail sentences for assault and battery on charges preferred by his wife. He served two terms at Dixmont and on both occasions he was released on petition of his wife.

Prominent among those who met Judge Pennypacker and Senator Penrose were ex-Judge A. L. Hazen, Representative Malcom McConnell, Robert Todd, candidates for assembly; Capt. James A. Gardner, R. P. Pomeroy, candidate for assembly; Col. O. L. Jackson, Capt. A. S. Love, County Treasurer John De Normandie, ex-Representative H. M. McCandless, R. L. McNabb, Register and Recorder Fred C. Shaner, Henry Hazen, Charles W. Watson, George W. Johnson, C. L. Young, secretary of the Republican county committee, and Stewart Thompson, deputy collector of internal revenue.

At the urgent request of Pittsburgh Republican leaders Senator Penrose reconsidered his decision and will speak in Pittsburgh tomorrow night. To do this the senator was obliged to cancel or postpone several important engagements. As he did not know how soon he would again be in the western part of the state, Senator Penrose thought it wise to take advantage of the present opportunity. Charles Emory Smith and Congressman Littlefield of Maine are expected to join Pennypacker and Penrose in Pittsburgh.

DIED IN TERRIBLE AGONY IN HOSPITAL.

Domestic Who Used Kerosene On Fire, Succumbed to Her Burns—Other Cases.

R. B. Newell, 9 years old, of Curwensville, Clarion county, died at the West Penn hospital last night at 9 o'clock of hydrophobia, after he had been suffering terribly there for three hours. Young Newell was bitten by a pet dog about 40 days ago. He was ill for a time, but as the animal was a well-bred one the physicians were not apprehensive about his wound and it healed perfectly. On Wednesday night he showed symptoms of hydrophobia, and the family physicians were summoned. As they had no means of treating the boy they suggested that he be taken to a hospital. He was brought to the West Penn hospital yesterday afternoon at 3 o'clock. During the ride to the city he suffered greatly. He died at 9 o'clock in convulsions.

Lottie Karbowzka, a domestic, 18 years old, of No. 2741 Penn avenue, died at the West Penn hospital last night of burns received on September 18. She was getting ready to prepare breakfast and poured kerocene in the stove.

Harry Butler, 50 years old, of Butler street, a tailor, who was struck by a West Wilkinsburg car, No. 423, on Wednesday night at Fifth avenue and Chatham street, died at the Homeopathic hospital last night.

Mrs. Stephen Maso of Colfax, Pa., was struck by a train on the West Penn railroad yesterday morning and instantly killed. She was 22 years old and was picking coal.

Joseph Eukena, 35 years old, of Hazeltine, a coal miner, was killed by a fall of slate in the Effen mine No. 3 of the Pittsburgh Coal Company, yesterday afternoon.

Joseph Heller, 50 years old, of No. 203 Shetland avenue, was found dead in his home yesterday morning by his son. He had been afflicted with heart failure for some time.

John Snellback of Shaler township, 64 years old, a gardener, died while working in the fields yesterday morning of heart failure. He had been working about an hour when he called to his wife to come to him, as he was ill. He was coughing violently and fell dead just as his wife reached his side.

Brevity Instead of Detail.

This store has too many departments, thousands upon thousands of dollars' worth of new goods and too much rushing business to attempt to go into detail every day in advertisement.

Therefore, where only one or two things are mentioned from a department, please take it as something special, and as an invitation to see the whole superb collection of that department.

New things from over the entire world are now arriving daily.

The New Monte Carlo Coats.

Perhaps more women are coming after the Monte Carlo Coats just now than any other kind.

They are undeniably a handsome and dressy coat—the smartest yet.

We are showing some fine specimens in tan, castor and black kersey cloth. Some are modeled with half fitting backs, the new wide sleeves and velvet collar; others have pleats running down back and front and some of this style have small shoulder capes, velvet collar and fancy full sleeves. All are lined with self-colored satin. Prices begin at $16.50 and run along easily to $50.

Some New Walking Skirts for Young Ladies.

Adding to the variety daily. Just received these two numbers—

At $5—Misses' Walking Skirts in oxford gray and navy blue cheviot. Lengths 35 to 40 inches. Lapped seams. Nicest of tailoring.

At $7.50—Misses' Pleated Walking Skirts in fine navy blue cheviot. Finished with strapped seams. Lengths 35 to 40 inches.

The New Plaids.

The bright colors in the all wool and the mixture of silk and wool plaids, make the new plaids preferable for children's wear. One of the new numbers is in a smart green and blue combination. The general price range for the new plaids is $1, $1.25, $1.50, $1.65 a yard.

And now, if you please, will you take up with us the matter of heavy weight cloth for rough and ready wear—the cloth that is to be used without lining. We are showing an invisible check in a 58-inch SCOTCH SKIRTING CLOTH, which has been conclusively proven to be the best value, to say nothing of its charmingly natty appearance, that has ever been offered for such a price—$1.25 a yard. The checks are in light and dark gray, brown, castor and olive green, very effectively set off with a sprinkling of white camel's hair here and there.

You know by this time that we are headquarters for the pretty French Crepes. Just now we are selling a $1.50 grade of the famous Lupin Crepes—20 delicate colors—for the very remarkable price of 75c a yard.

Then we are showing over 50 new Fall shades in those other chic French Crepes—Crepe DuBarry, Crepe Panne and Crepe Sazerac.

What Is New in Basketry.

We presume you have seen our Basket display at the Exposition, and perhaps watched our expert throwing together a basket when he is not otherwise engaged.

That display is suggestive of what we have in the main Basket place—the Basement. Perhaps we are a trifle enthusiastic on this subject of baskets, but when we know we have the largest variety shown by any retail house in America, together with the fact that we keep three basketmakers busy the year 'round, we may be pardoned.

Some details—

Shopping Baskets, 25c, 40c and 50c each.
Market Baskets, 40c 50c and 60c each.
Waste Paper Baskets, 50c, $1.00, $2.00 and $4.00, and prices in between.
Glove Baskets, 50c each.
Handkerchief Baskets, 40c each.
Sewing Baskets, 50c to $10.00 each.
Laundry Baskets, $1.00 to $3.00 each.
Infants' Baskets, 35c to $1.25 each.
Knitting Baskets, 25c to 75c each.
Basket Trunks, $4.50 to $10.00 each.

New Blouse Jackets.

No material looks so nice in blouse effect as velour. There is a large line of these handsome Velour Blouses in our second floor Wrap Department.

The trimming used is braids, either black or black and white, and the sleeves are either bell shaped or the fancy full sleeve at cuff.

The Temporary Small Stove.

A handy thing to have around these cool mornings and evenings. You want some heat, and yet it isn't time to start the furnace a-going.

Yesterday we took in 300 Round Gas Heaters—black iron, nickel trimmed. Each is fitted with the excellent Star burner. Nice for heating bath room, bed room or small living room. Only $1 each.

Radiators for halls, billiard rooms, and other large rooms, $2.50, $3.50 and $5 each.

Riker's Almond Meal.

Do you know that the name of Riker is synonomous for all that is pure in lotions?

Take Riker's Almond Meal as an instance. A perfectly harmless skin bleach, removing tan, freckles, sunburn, redness and sallowness, completely.

And it does it so neatly that the surprise is all the greater.

Costs but a trifle—large jar for 25c.

It may not be amiss to state here that we have the sole agency in Greater Pittsburgh for Riker's superb Perfumes and Toilet Specialties, and that, in our judgment, they are the equal of any high class goods on the market.

Boys' and Girls' School Shoes.

If there is any one class of goods that we are particular to have just so, it is shoes for boys and girls.

A young foot illy fitted once or twice may make that foot ugly shaped for life.

We do not set up the claim that we can fit young feet better than some other stores, but we do say that we give the subject earnest study, and we know that we come as near fitting the foot perfectly as it is possible for perfection to be absolute.

In the matter of boys' shoes we know that boys like their shoes to look just like men's. All our boys' shoes are made on those lines, and they are made to stand all kinds of hard wear. Boys best test the wearing qualities of shoes. Our boys' shoes are made especially to our order. We allow no kind but the best of leathers to be used, and the workmanship must also be of the best. We are free to say that our prices for such shoes cannot be duplicated. $2.50, $3, $3.50.

We have a special box calf shoe for school children made over a foot form last. It has a heavy double sole, and that is important. It is a stylish shoe and at the same time the embodiment of sturdy service. Either button or lace. Sizes 11½ to 2, sell for $2.25; sizes 8½ to 11 sell for $1.75. Since we took up shoes some years back, these are the best shoes we have had for like prices.

Children's Dress Shoes are quite a hobby with us. Like parents to see our new dress shoes of dull kid. Very smart and inexpensive.

Just a word to women: Plain toe shoes are quite the thing just now. We're showing two handsome plain-toed boots, one of patent ideal kid, the other of wax calf. The toes are severely plain. A decided change—and an agreeable one. $3 and $3.50.

CRACK CAVALRY TROOPS FORMED IN PITTSBURGH

Charter Has Been Applied for by "The Pittsburgh Hussars."

LIMITED MEMBERSHIP IS PART OF SCHEME

Incorporators Plan to Make Organization Socially Exclusive One and Build Fine Armory. Three Troops Included.

Pittsburgh is at last to have a high-class, crack cavalry organization, modeled on the lines of the City troop of Philadelphia and the Black Horse Hussars of Chicago. It will be composed of three troops, with a membership of 261. This is about the last of the large cities in the United States to have a really distinctive military organization, independent of the national guard or the regular army, and the application to court of common pleas No. 1 for a charter means military balls of the most gorgeous character, at which society will turn out in all its splendors, for the social standard is to be of the very highest.

Attorney Charles A. Locke, representing about 65 business and professional men of Pittsburgh, yesterday filed the application for "The Pittsburgh Hussars," the directors of which are R. B. Caldwell, Harold P. Childs, Richard Munden, W. D. Lindsay and F. J. Kress, while the membership includes the sons of most of the leading families of Western Pennsylvania, many of whom are millionaires.

Membership Limited.

The organization will be composed of 261 members only, unless the social organization decides to take into its membership additional members, who will not be enrolled in the military organization. It is proposed to give Pittsburgh one of the finest armories in the world and the long-cherished idea of the National Guard will finally be carried out.

The proposed cost has not yet been estimated, nor the location selected, but from the character of the names attached to the petition it will not be long before the necessary funds are on hand. At the start, however, the Hussars will rent an armory, probably the Third United Presbyterian church on Sixth avenue, now owned by H. C. Frick, whose private secretary is one of the incorporators. This building will be fitted up to serve until Mr. Frick desires to use it for other purposes, and in the meantime plans will be laid to erect the new armory.

Will Have Three Troops.

There will be three troops in the military organization, with 65 members each. The equipment will be of the finest, and the horses of uniform size and color, although the exact color of the animals has not been decided upon. Each member's equipment will be expensive and everything connected with the organization will be of the highest class. No politics or religion will be known, and the Hussars will take part in all civil and patriotic demonstrations, gubernatorial and presidential inaugurations.

The troops will be trained to become expert horsemen and it is said the organization includes among its members some of the best military men and horsemen in this country, with one or two members of the famous Rough Riders.

A meeting will be held next Monday evening at Attorney Locke's office in the St. Nicholas building to effect the organization and elect officers.

Military balls, where the members will appear in full dress uniform, will take Pittsburghers back to colonial days. Other social events will take place, and it is said it will require considerable money to keep up membership in the organization. It is proposed to send expert horsemen to the annual military tournament in New York, where the Hussars expect to carry off prizes for trick and fancy riding.

WHY THE "OLD LADY" IS STANDARD FOR NEWS OF THE GREAT METROPOLIS.

New York is the metropolis of the nation, but more important than that, it is the financial center of the continent. Pittsburgh, perhaps more than any other city in the country, is bound by financial ties to its greater neighbor. As a result, every newspaper in the city is making great efforts and spending vast sums, to keep in the closest possible connection with the metropolis.

That The Gazette has the best New York service in the city cannot be doubted, and at the same time this furnishes a potent reason for the great leaps in The Gazette's popularity that have been made in the past two years. With the aid of the unrivaled wire and special cable service of the New York Herald, the international newspaper, the readers of The Gazette get not only the earliest and most accurate news from the metropolis and Europe, but they get all the news that is worth printing.

The Gazette, however, has not been satisfied to depend on the Herald for its New York service. It has both a news and financial bureau of its own in that great city. George Jenks, one of the foremost journalists in America, is at the head of its news service, while the name of E. W. Harden is familiar as that of an expert in finance to the readers of the best American journals, and he has The Gazette's financial service from New York in his charge.

With special wires running direct into the office, every news item worthy of the name is placed before readers of The Gazette in a way that no other Pittsburgh newspaper can approach, and as a result The Gazette has become the standard in this city for reliable, accurate and early news from New York. Manufacturer, business man, financier and the general reader are kept in the closest touch with the pulse of the nation, best felt in that great metropolis. It is one of the ways in which all can "Watch the Old Lady Grow Young."

FOUR MEN BURNED AND ONE WILL DIE

Explosion in Allegheny Paint Store Caused Blaze That Did $10,000 Damage.

An explosion in the cellar of the Mutual building, No. 119 West Ohio street, Allegheny, yesterday at noon, caused the serious injury of four persons, of whom Henry Gleis, aged 20, of Lithgow avenue, Allegheny, will probably die.

The cause of the explosion is supposed to have been spontaneous combustion among paints and oils stored in the cellar by Henry Wheeler & Son, paint dealers, who occupy the first floor of the building. Their loss will reach $10,000, covered by insurance. J. D. Lenkard, owner of a billiard room on the second floor, suffered a loss of $100 from water.

According to the story told by Gleis, he was mixing paints in the cellar when, without apparent cause, he was enveloped in flames. He rushed out into the street with his clothing ablaze. Mail Carrier Oscar Logan, Bert Rodney and Harry Graib went to his assistance and all were badly burned, while smothering his blazing clothing. Gleir was taken home and is in a critical condition. The firemen succeeded in confining the fire to the first floor and the cellar, but had a stubborn fight, and the flames were not drowned out until 2 o'clock in the afternoon. A dog belonging to Lenkard was suffocated.

CARNEGIE CHURCH NEWS.

The Episcopal Church of Atonement in Washington avenue, Carnegie, was crowded last night for the annual harvest home service. The interior of the church was decorated in rustic simplicity, grains and fruits being arranged in an artistic manner. The Rev. D. L. Ferris of Calvary church preached the sermon. The rector, the Rev. W. E. Allen, also made a few brief but appropriate remarks.

The Rev. W. R. Wilson was installed as pastor of the Carnegie United Presbyterian church. The church had been without a pastor for nearly two years. The installation sermon was preached by the Rev. R. M. Russell of Pittsburgh. The charge to the people was made by the Rev. J. D. Sands of Pittsburgh and the charge to the pastor by the Rev. Dr. J. C. Boyd.

NOLAN'S BARREL MAY BE PLUGGED IF PULLED OFF

Waiting to See If Democrats Will Replace His Name With Emery's.

MEANWHILE IS ABSENT FROM BAND WAGON

By WALTER J. CHRISTY,
Staff Correspondent.

Huntingdon, Pa., Sept. 18.—A searching party will shortly have to be sent out for James Nolan, the Democratic nominee for secretary of internal affairs. He was to have joined the spellbinders Monday morning, but he has not put in an appearance.

Nolan lives in Reading and has a barrel. Because of his fat purse it was deemed wise to nominate him for secretary of internal affairs, especially as Democrats who were willing to make the sacrifice were hard to find. There was some doubt about Nolan accepting, but he turned up at the Reading notification meeting and decided to shoulder the load.

It was the intention of the Democratic manager to have Pattison, Guthrie and Nolan stump the state together. Nolan had orders to report at Harrisburg Monday morning. He did not appear, but instead a rather unsatisfactory telegram was received. The manager has been looking for him ever since, but Nolan has disappointed him.

There is reason for believing that Nolan does not intend to make any speeches until he is sure that he is to remain on the ticket. There is a possibility that the boses will pull him off and give the place to ex-Senator Lewis Emery of Bradford, who was named by the Democratic end of the Union party for the office. If Nolan is shown that he will not be molested, he will probably knock the bung out of his barrel and begin making speeches.

A Source of Embarrassment.

The Democrats all want to know what has become of Nolan and the situation is growing embarassing for the management of the campaigning party.

The Pattison party spent the day at the Grangers' picnic at Centre Hall, Centre county, coming to Huntingdon tonight for an evening meeting. The spellbinders left Harrisburg about 4 o'clock this morning in the Pullman car that is to be used during the remainder of the tour.

At Coburn, 15 miles from the grange grounds, the party was met by the local committee, headed by County Chairman J. J. Bower. With him were Senator W. C. Heinle, D. J. Meyer, W. B. Mingle, Sheriff Beingart, County Treasurer W. T. Spear, Joseph Rightnour, James Kellar, Col. J. A. Woodward, D. F. Fortney, ex-Judge Samuel Frank, Fred Kurtz and D. E. Hibner of DuBois, the Democratic nominee in this district for congress.

The governor reached Centre Hall shortly after 9 o'clock, and there was a big crowd on the grounds when he arrived. These Granger picnics are held every year. They last for a week, and Thursday is always the big day. Today kept pace with similar days of the past. Twenty-four carloads of men, women and children were dumped into the grounds just about the time the Democrats arrived. Hundreds drove to the place. By 1 o'clock in the afternoon there were about 7,000 people in the enclosure.

Plenty of Pennypacker Buttons.

The Democrats pretend to believe that all of these people went to Centre Hall just because Pattison was there. Perhaps a good many of them did, but there were hundreds who had no special interest in the campaigning party. While a big crowd gathered about the speakers' stand there were thousands who did not make any effort to hear the speeches. They were there for fun, and not to listen to a lot of men who want jobs, and scolding because they cannot get them.

Leonard Rhone, a professional granger, was in charge of the picnic today. He tried to make himself believe there were 14,000 people on the grounds, but half of this number is a fair estimate.

When Pattison and Guthrie had eaten breakfast they were taken to the Democratic tent, where a reception was held for over an hour. The people passed in line and were presented to the candidates. The meeting was held in the open air this afternoon. Col. James F. Weaver presided, and speeches were made by Pattison, Guthrie, Senator Heinle, Representative Joseph Mayne of Lehigh, Senator Herbst of Berks, State Chairman W. T. Creasy and Maj. Moses Veale of Philadelphia. Mayne and Herbst spoke in German.

Pattison repeated his set speech, but Guthrie varied a little by attempting to answer the addresses made by Judge Pennypacker at Erie last night and here on Tuesday. Guthrie, of course, asserts that Pennypacker does not meet a single charge brought against the Republican organization.

Guesses Easy to Make.

The Pittsburgher says the reason the state debt is so small is because the constitution prevents the commonwealth from incurring debt. He holds that if it were not for the constitutional provision, the liabilities of Pennsylvania would be great. This probably is as good a guess as any other. They have to scold.

The papers are eagerly looked for each morning since Pennypacker has started on his tour of the state. Pattison and Guthrie read the judge's speeches very carefully, but apparently have not been able to find any easy spots to atttack him. Pattison never makes any reference to Pennypacker, the work of answering the judge being left to Guthrie. The answer of today will not cause the Republican managers much worry.

Pattison and his party remained at the picnic until about 4 o'clock. After the governor had made his speech he held another reception and tried to give as many as possible the glad hand. Quite a number of the people at the picnic wore Pennypacker buttons, but this did not prevent them from shaking hands with Pattison.

Centre usually is a close county, but when the Republicans are working together they carry it. This year all factions are in accord and the meeting at Centre Hall does not give the leaders of the party much alarm. The Democrats are making a special effort to re-elect Heinle to the senate and give a majority for Hibner for congress.

The spellbinders were met at Tyrone by a committee of Huntingdon county Democrats, composed of H. C. Rohm, S. E. Fleming, E. S. McMurtrie, A. W. Jones, T. J. Hutchinson, A. W. Mylon, ex-Judge G. M. Cresswell, ex-Senator H. J. McAleer and County Chairman W. M. Henderson. At the Huntingdon station was a large crowd that wished to see Pattison and Guthrie.

Tonight the courthouse was well filled with Huntingdon Democrats. Sheriff David Wilson presided. Speeches were made by Pattison, Guthrie and Mayne.

The party leaves here in the morning for the tour of Bedford county, holding meetings at Hyndman, Everett and Bedford.

SQUARE OF BUILDINGS BURNS AT GREENVILLE

Firemen Had Insufficient Supply of Water and $30,000 Damage Resulted.

[SPECIAL TELEGRAM TO THE GAZETTE.]

GREENVILLE, PA., Sept. 18.—The most disastrous fire in many years occurred here this afternoon. One square of buildings was completely destroyed and for over an hour it loked as if half the business portion of the town would fall prey to the flames. Insufficient water supply and a strong south wind caused fears of a great conflagration. The fire broke out in Speir's livery barn, fronting on Canal street. The horses and a few of the vehicles had hardly been gotten out when the entire building burst into a mass of flames.

The fire then communicated to the Central house, where all the fire fighting apparatus was kept. Soon every building in the block was burning furiously as were the rear parts of many stores fronting on Main street. The four-story new brick barn of B. Bowers, across the alley, was soon enveloped in flames and an hour later only a part of the walls and steel framework were left standing.

The cold storage plant of D. H. Mathay was partially destroyed. The blacksmith shops of Callahan Bros. and Solomon Beachler and horse sheds in rear of the fire department and the stores of D. L. Kamerer were destroyed.

The local fire department, aided by the departments from the Bessemer & Lake Erie railroad shops and Shelby tube works, did great work in saving adjacent property. The water pressure was so low that the streams scarcely reached the top of the first story of the burning buildings. The fire engine which the council desired to sell last winter really saved the day. The loss is estimated at $30,000, with about $18,000 insurance.

BIRDSEYE VIEW SHOWING HOW HIGH SPEED ELECTRIC CARS WILL MAKE THE FAST 10-MINUTE RUN FROM SMITHFIELD ST. AND FIFTH AVENUE TO FETTERMAN.

Don't forget that opportunity is fast flying from those who delay! Investors are buying and reselling at an enormous profit without moving a step! Houses are beginning to raise up during the tremendous building boom with almost supernatural speed.

AND YET FETTERMAN HAS BEEN ON THE MARKET ONLY FIVE DAYS!

If you cannot come out to the plan this morning or afternoon, come tonight. You can select your lot under the electric lights. Leave your eyeglasses at home. A blind man could almost see the few splendid opportunities that still remain open in this marvelous property. If he could not see them he could feel them! Such are the premonitions of people who step into THE MONEY-LAND amidst such enthusiasm as is reigning.

When people come to look at this property they buy! They buy because they can see where the tunnel lines are going to come through! Because one of the tunnel lines will pass the property and the other will be but one square away. They realize that property within

10 Minutes' Ride of Fifth Avenue

is going to increase in value until it makes very many people rich. They can arrive at this truth without studying long, and know that lots at $250 to $600 on paved streets, lighted by electric lights, are bargains never before heard of. They also know that lots selling at $100 to $300 on the other streets in this plan are bargains which cannot be found anywhere else in the world.

Fetterman is a big proposition and a big opportunity. It's going to build another city to weld on to Pittsburgh.

Remember the terms on Fetterman lots are 5 per cent down, and balance is payable at the rate of 2½ per cent per month. So bring your money or check book with you, as these terms will not be deviated from and you may lose a chance that some one else will get, if you come unprepared.

If you desire to pay cash 10 per cent discount will be allowed any time within 60 days.

There will be no interest or taxes for you to pay, and the Title is insured by the Fidelity Title & Trust Company.

JUROR'S LITTLE JEST GOT HIM INTO TROUBLE

Talk About Holding Out a Jury Nearly Landed M. F. Burke in Jail.

SEVERELY REBUKED BY THE COURT

Judge McClung Said Any Man Who Would Make Such a Remark as That Was Not Fit to Serve the Commonwealth.

Judge S. A. McClung yesterday severely rebuked M. F. Burke, a machinist of the Seventeenth ward, for his action as a member of the present panel of jurors in common pleas court No. 3, after which he was excused from further duty.

Burke was a juror in the case of Emma Goebler against the city of Allegheny, an action to recover damages to property. The jury retired Wednesday morning and did not agree until 6 p. m., when the plaintiff was awarded 6¼ cents. The vote, it is said, remained 11 to 1 all day.

Yesterday morning when the verdict was returned F. A. Duttenberg of the Twenty-sixth ward and George Leaser of the Fourteenth ward reported to the court that Burke had declared that the next jury he served on he would hold it out. Burke was ordered to be in court at 3 p. m. He attempted to show that he had made the remark as a jest, and to prove this he called J. L. Springer, a farmer of Moon township. The latter said he did not hear the remark. Burke called other jurors, but the court said it was not necessary.

"Any man who will make such a statement," said Judge McClung, "is not fit to sit as a juror. It seems very strange that in each panel there is one man who is not competent to serve. If I were satisfied the remark was made in earnest I would send you to jail, as remarks of that kind are directly in contempt of court. I will excuse you, not simply with your desire not to serve, but because you are not competent to serve as a juror."

Burke had previously made application to be excused.

MILK DEALERS APPEAL

Say Justice Horner of Wilkinsburg Threatened Them When He Fined Them for Selling Milk.

In quarter sessions court yesterday eight petitions were filed, asking that appeals be granted from the decisions of Justice James Homer of Wilkinsburg, in which the petitioners were fined for selling milk within the borough limits without a license.

The petitioners are W. J. Clark, Margaret B. Ostendorf, W. S. Watt, J. F. Brown, John Grizzo, Henry Schroth, J. P. Beech and Charles Bauman, and they claim they are residents of Wilkins township, where they have farms.

Sometime ago, the petitioners state, they were arrested and brought before Justice Homer who fined them $6.57 each for selling milk without a license. The petitioners further say that at the time of the hearing the justice openly announced that if they appealed to court he would fine them for each day they sold milk without a license.

The petitioners claim they are violating no borough ordinance in selling the milk without a license, as the milk sold is produced on their own farms and not purchased from other farmers.

Some of the cases will come before the court tomorrow, when a decision will be rendered.

SECOND DEGREE MURDER

Moriello Convicted of Shooting Valle, Italian Guilty of Embezzlement, Sentences Imposed.

The jury in the murder case against Guiseppi Moriello, yesterday, returned a verdict convicting the defendant of murder in the second degree. The jury retired shortly before noon, Wednesday, and returned its verdict yesterday morning.

He as convicted of shooting Antonio Valle, a fellow Italian, on Laurel avenue, on May 4, last. It was claimed that the trouble which led up to the shooting was caused by Valle discharging the defendant from his employ. The latter, however, claimed he shot in self-defense.

Pelletton Anabale was convicted of embezzlement, but sentence was not imposed. The prosecutor, Vegetta Anastasio, stated that he gave the defendant about $90 which was to be sent to the prosecutor's wife in Europe. The wife failed to receive the money and the suit was brought.

The following sentences were imposed: Peter McCabe, selling liquor illegally, $500 fine and six months to the workhouse; John Boland, larceny, by Ira B. Hawthorne, 30 days to the workhouse; Tim Sullivan, misdemeanor, by Mary Landy, 15 days to the workhouse.

CLAIM OF IRISH HEIRS

Commissioner E. J. Smith Files Testimony Taken in Ireland Relative to Michael Flanagan's Estate.

The additional testimony taken in Ireland by Attorney E. Z. Smith, as commissioner in the estate of Michael Flanagan, the wealthy Lawrenceville blacksmith, was filed yesterday in the register's office. The purpose of Mr. Smith's second trip was to take testimony upon the claim of Patrick Flanagan as a cousin.

Commissioner Smith goes into details as to the places he visited and the records examined, at times being assisted by priests. As to information relative to the decedent's parents he has nothing to add to his original report. The testimony as to Patrick Flanagan's claim, shows that the latter is relying upon what his mother had told him about being a nephew of the decedent, but from the investigation made by Mr. Smith, it would appear that he is a first cousin.

Nearly all of the testimony of Patrick Flanagan is hearsay, and in his claim as a relative he is sustained by several witnesses. The matter will be taken up when the lawyers agree upon a time for a hearing.

KINGSLEY HOUSE WILL RETAIN ITS OLD DIRECTORS

R. D. McGonigle and J. C. Dilworth Elected for the Opposition Ticket.

MISS M. B. LIPPINCOTT WILL LEAVE

The Board Will Reorganize Next Week and Will Elect Her Successor to Position of Head Resident.

The election of directors of the Kingsley House association, which aroused much partisan feeling among the members, resulted in the re-election of 10 members of the former board. R. D. McGonigle and J. C. Dilworth, candidates on the opposition ticket, were elected. In consequence of the victory Miss Mary B. Lippincott, who has been head resident of the institution for a number of years, will leave. Her successor's name has not been mentioned.

Scarcely a score of the members attended yesterday afternoon to hear the result of the election and the proceedings were calm in comparison with the excitement of the electioneering on the previous day. Anticipating a dispute in the count of the ballots, D. L. Gillespie went to the meeting with three ponderous law books, citing cases in the legal tests of election laws. These were consulted by E. Z. Smith, judge of the election, and without delay the count was declared to be accurate.

Those elected on the first ballot were H. D. W. English, Joseph F. Guffey, Miss Alice Holdship, the Rev. J. R. Wightman, J. J. Miller, Mrs. H. Lee Mason, Jr., C. E. Childers, Miss Minnie Sellers, Charles L. Taylor, Mrs. William H. Black, R. D. McGonigle and J. C. Dilworth.

Four candidates were tied for the next three seats and a second ballot was taken. Before this was done the Rev. Dr. McIlvaine and Mrs. Persifor F. Smith withdrew their names and the second ballot gave the majority to Mrs. Gilbert Rafferty, William Speer Kuhn and David A. Reed.

The election officers refused to make the detailed vote public. When William McConway, who led the opposition, was questioned regarding the regularity of this procedure, he replied:

"I am interested no further in the matter. When the fight is over, I quit."

The organization of the new board will take place early next week. Treasurer Guffey said that Miss Lippincott would not return and that the office of head resident would be filled by the assistant, Miss Dunlap, until Miss Lippincott's successor is appointed. A man will be employed to take charge of the work among the men and boys, but the board is undecided whether to appoint a man or a woman to the position of head resident. It is likely that H. D. W. English will be re-elected president of the board.

HELD ANNUAL MEETING.

The Woman's Union Missionary Association of Allegheny County in Session Yesterday.

The annual meeting of the Woman's Union Missionary association of Allegheny county was held yesterday afternoon and evening in the North Avenue (Allegheny) Methodist Episcopal church.

The reports of the officers showed that the work of the year was most satisfactory. Letters were read from United States Senators Quay and Penrose and Congressman Dalzell, expressing sympathy with the movement of the association in pushing the temperance and anti-polygamy bills, now in congress. Papers were read by Mrs. Mary Dobbins Squibb and Mrs. G. M. Sloan.

Officers for two years were elected as follows: President, Mrs. M. F. Hutchins; vice president, Mrs. R. H. Swearingen; recording secretary, Mrs. Thomas Waters; corresponding secretary, Miss Margaret Phipps; treasurer, Mrs. John Conroy; chairman of the committee on literature, Mrs. R. H. Hay.

The evening session was in charge of Mrs. R. H. May of Pittsburgh. Addresses were delivered by Florence M. Brown of Pittsburgh and Helen F. Barnes of Chicago, Ill. Mrs. [illegible], general secretary of the Pittsburgh branch, discussed the local work and the South Side branch that is to be opened soon. The Pittsburgh association expects to have the use of four houses there and permanent residents will have charge of the work in those houses.

SOLDIERS FAIL TO OVERAWE MOB

CAR ATTACKED AND CONDUCTOR STRUCK.

[BY ASSOCIATED PRESS TO THE GAZETTE.]

GLEN'S FALLS, N. Y., Sept. 18.—The twentieth day of the Hudson valley street railway strike saw a car start from here over this division in charge of deputy sheriffs and militia and manned by non-union men. As the car proceeded north from the power house jeers came from the bystanders. On its progress through the bank square the conductor was struck by a bystander and the car stopped, the militia getting off and clearing a space around the car. After a short delay it proceeded.

A car from the power house to Fort Edward was stopped several times by breaks in the trolley wire, and at Sandy hill a crowd of several thousand assembled. A false alarm of fire was rung and the hose cart run to the track and left standing and an attempt made to place hose on the rails. The car was sent ahead and demolished the hose cart.

District Attorney Pratt read the riot act to the crowd, which after a time dispersed. Sheriff Austin called on Capt. Dennis of Company I, National guard, stationed at Whitehall, and that company reached the power house here early, where they encamped on railway company property near Company K.

CHARLESTON, W. VA., Sept. 18.—The power house and stables of the Victoria Coal and Coke Company, at Caperton, on New river, were destroyed by fire today, involving a loss of $25,000.

Yesterday several families were evicted from houses of the Caperton company. That the fire was the work of incendiaries is generally believed. The mines have been closed since the strike began and were flooded, owing to the inability of the management to keep pumpers at work.

Live Wire Upsets Five—A live wire knocked five men from the construction wagon of the new Homestead & Mifflin line yesterday afternoon at Homestead park. The men were stretching the trolley wire when one of them came in contact with a live wire. All were thrown to the street, but none was seriously injured.

Is In the Race Early—Although the borough election in Carnegie is far ahead, one candidate for burgess yesterday put his name before the public. Dr. T. M. Coley has issued buttons bearing his photograph, surrounded by the words, "Burgess or bust." Dr. Coley says that affairs in the town need a thorough overhauling.

Enforcing Carnegie Blue Laws—The blue law crusade in Carnegie has been revived. Louis Baker last night was arraigned before Justice McMillen and fined $25 and costs on the charge of selling on Sunday. Baker will push cases against other dealers, and it is likely that many informations will be sworn out before Monday.

Investigating Vaccination—To determine what proportion of the smallpox patients in the municipal hospital have been vaccinated is the purpose of an investigation started at a meeting of the Anti-Compulsory Vaccination society at the Monongahela house last evening. A committee was appointed to secure new members.

Hydrophobia Threatened—William Wright, who was bitten on the arm by a dog in Glenfield last Sunday, has shown symptoms of hydrophobia. The arm has become swollen and has turned black, and the attending physician has declared it absolutely necessary that the member be amputated. The owner of the dog has refused to have it shot, and suit will be instituted.

Pittsburgh Is Included—President Roosevelt's itinerary on his return from his extensive tour through the northwest will include Pittsburgh. He will reach this city about 8:30 p. m., on October 6, but will stay only long enough to permit a change of engines at Union station, as he is scheduled to arrive in Washington the next day for the Grand Army encampment.

Brakeman Injured—A rear-end collision, involving two freight trains on the West Penn railroad, occurred at Sligo station early yesterday morning and caused considerable delay in the early morning train service. One of the train crew, Brakeman Schultz, was injured. He had one leg crushed, one arm was fractured and it is supposed that he sustained internal injuries.

Buys Bonds Before Issue—Wilkinsburg council has decided to buy the bonds of that borough voted about a year ago for establishing a modern fire department and now about to be issued. About 10 years ago a series of sewer bonds was issued and a sinking fund provided to meet them at maturity, which is still six years away. To save interest $25,000 will now be applied to the fire bonds.

Opposition Engendered—Overtures relating to revisions in the confession of faith of the Presbyterian church, recommended by the last general assembly, have met with bitter opposition in this city and Philadelphia. This opposition, however, is believed to be for effect merely, as it is acknowledged generally that the majorities necessary to secure the passage of these revisions will be easily secured.

Wagon Blocked Cars—A ditched wagon tied up the trolley cars and suspended traffic on West Carson street yesterday morning for several hours. A heavily loaded wagon of the Singer-Nimick Company in attempting to cross the tracks near the plant, slid into an excavation. Passengers were compelled to walk and much indignation was caused by the stated inability on the part of the conductors to issue transfers.

Sympathy for Miners—The Pennsylvania Grand lodge, Knights of Fidelity, an organization of owners of licensed houses, held its annual meeting here yesterday. Every lodge in the state was represented. The delegates unanimously indorsed a resolution expressing sympathy with the striking miners. Should it become necessary the organization will express its sympathy in a more substantial way by the donation of $500.

Paleontologist Returned—Prof. J. B. Hatcher, the curator of the department of paleontology, in the Pittsburgh Carnegie museum, has returned after a two months' absence, and reports successful results in the search for the skeletons and remains in the fossil fields of the northwest. The remains recovered included a remarkably fine specimen of diplodocus found in the Jurassic formation of Wyoming, and other specimens representing species perhaps as yet unknown to science.

Carried Off Street Roller—Someone has been enterprising enough to make away with a street roller weighing nearly two tons, according to the discovery of the street paving firm of Cronin & O'Herron. Last spring that firm did some work for the borough of East Pittsburgh and left the roller on the street. Yesterday they had occasion to use it. Upon sending for the roller they found it had disappeared. As it requires two horses to move this roller, considerable admiration is expressed at the enterprise shown.

New McKeesport Postoffice—Postmaster W. E. Harrison of McKeesport yesterday was officially notified that the selection of a site for the new postoffice building would be made on October 17. Notice has been advertised to all persons possessing desirable sites. The limit to be paid for the ground is $20,000, and no site has been found that can be acquired for that sum. The entire appropriation for the postoffice is only $100,000, and the Tube City may be obliged to wait on another appropriation.

REPUBLICAN LEAGUE ELECTS OFFICERS.

Erie Convention Adjourns After Indorsing Roosevelt and the State Candidates.

By CHESTER D. POTTER.
Staff Correspondent.

ERIE, PA., Sept. 18.—The official business of the State League of Republican Clubs convention was concluded at noon today. Officers were elected and a committee was appointed to select a place for holding the next annual convention. It will probably be held at Reading. A strong indorsement of President Roosevelt and the Republican state candidates was given by acclamation. The anthracite labor trouble was disposed of in the following:

Realizing that the prosperity of the country and the commonwealth depends upon the harmonious relations of capital and labor, we deplore the unhappy differences now existing in the anthracite coal fields, and sincerely trust that an amicable settlement of the same may be concluded by arbitration or compromise at a very early date, to the end that both parties to this controversy and the general public may be relieved.

The national convention will be held October 2 and 3 at Chicago and the following delegates will attend: Theodore B. Stahl, John B. Lukens, Samuel Stinger, Harry B. Welder, J. Martin Rommel, Robert B. Kelly, Philadelphia; S. A. Bacharach, Wilkesbarre; W. L. Connell, Scranton; A. E. Patton, Connellsville; Albert J. Edwards, Pittsburgh; William Arbogast, Allegheny; Clark Olds, Erie. Alternates, Hugh Black, Joseph Dacey, Joseph T. Taylor, David J. Humphreys, John McCleary, Byron Wigley, C. C. Baldy, Philadelphia; Milton Lowry, Wilkesbarre; George J. Lewellyn, Scranton; S. H. Wigion, Curwensville; H. W. Diehl, Pittsburgh; Samuel B. Rheams, Allegheny; L. G. Sterrett, Erie. Delegates from the Twenty-sixth (Erie-Crawford) Congressional district, Henry Zimmerly and C. A. Mertens, Erie, and John Schuller and D. Rosenthal, Meadville. Alternattes, F. L. Cleveland, Erie; George R. Sweet, Union City; T. H. Cogswell, Corry, and Walter G. Harper, Meadville.

There was but one nomination for the presidency. Frederick W. Fleitz, the president of the league, was renominated by J. Hampton Moore, who made an eloquent appeal for his candidate. The nomination was seconded by Mr. Sobel. President Fleitz, in his address of thanks, said that the victory of the Republican party at the next election depended on the pool worker and that, although the party's success was certain, "we must go out gunning for it."

Jerry H. Shaw of Philadelphia was reelected treasurer and John Kelley, also of Philadelphia, was re-elected secretary. The vice presidents were chosen as follows: John R. Wiggins, J. Wesley Durham, John McCleary and William McDonald, Philadelphia; Robert H. Lindsey, Dr. A. J. Barchfield, Pittsburgh; William O. Swoope, Clearfield, and James D. Hay, Erie.

There was a steamer excursion this afternoon and the concluding feature was a ball tonight at Waldameer, the famous summer resort.

WOMAN A BURGLAR.

She Wears a Slouch Hat, but her Walk and Hair Betray Her Sex.

Yesterday morning at 2 o'clock Mrs. John Dell, the wife of a Braddock contractor, discovered a burglar ransacking the dresser in her home in Braddock avenue, near Eleventh street. Mrs. Dell screamed for her husband and the thief ran out through a side door. Jewelry valued at $65 and $20 in currency were taken.

Mrs. Dell says the house-breaker was a woman. Beneath the slouch hat she saw a neat roll of hair and the features of a comely face. The burglar walked with light, short strides, which also indicated her sex.

The police say that at several places in the borough, where robberies were committed, a strange woman was seen a short time before. She visited the laundry of Yee Lee in Seventh street on Wednesday, and the following night the place was robbed.

SEVERING AMERICAN TIES.

Rumor Says W. W. Astor Will Bring His Wife's Remains to England.

NEW YORK, Sept. 18.—(Special.)—The report is again current that William Waldorf Astor has given orders for the exhumation of the remains of his wife from the vault in which they repose in Trinity cemetery and for their conveyance to England to be buried in the churchyard of Hedsor church, the parish church of Clivedon, beside those of her youngest daughter, Gwendoline, whose funeral took place there yesterday.

The interment of the child in the village churchyard of Hedsor has served to bring home to people here even more completely than his naturalization as an Englishman, the fact of the complete severance by William Waldorf Astor of all the ties that formerly bound him to the land of his birth.

ENCAMPMENT CONFERENCE.

Passenger Officials of the B. & O. Talk About Transporting the Veterans.

The leading passenger officials of the Baltimore & Ohio system met at the Hotel Lincoln yesterday and conferred on the outlook for travel to the encampment of the Grand Army at Washington, in October.

Passenger Traffic Manager D. B. Martin said: "There is every indication that the travel will be very large. We wish to know in advance how much equipment, etc., will be needed. Special trains will be run from as far away as San Francisco."

Those present at the conference beside Mr. Martin were: General Passenger Agents C. W. Bassett of Baltimore, B. N. Austin Chicago, and O. P. McCarty Cincinnati and E. D. Smith, assistant general passenger agent Pittsburgh, with the traveling representatives of the department.

COMMITTEE IS APPOINTED TO CHOOSE A SITE

Carnegie Spurs Institute Trustees Into Action for School.

NEW ADDITION TO BE FINISHED IN 1904

Extensions of Institute Are Due to Be Dedicated on Founders Day of That Year—Carnegie Will Be Here.

The work of the board of trustees of the Carnegie institute and the joint councilmanic committee toward the selection of the site for the Carnegie polytechnic school is well under way. A special committee of the trustees was appointed yesterday to choose the location for the institution and early next week, with the councilmen, will visit the three proposed sites.

Both the trustees and the members of the councilmanic committee expect to reach an agreement in the matter at an early date. Mr. Carnegie urges that they proceed with the plans without further delay and it is likely that the pressure he is exerting will soon accomplish the desired results. A letter from Mr. Carnegie received yesterday by Col. Samuel H. Church, secretary of the board of trustees, dated at Skibo Castle, September 6, has this to say:

"I am glad to hear that the site for the technical school will be arranged soon. It is a pity so much valuable time is being wasted, but patience is needed in all good work."

Carnegie Will Come.

At the same time the new additions to the institute provided for by Mr. Carnegie's donations two years ago will be built. The completion of the enlarged institute building will be made in 1904, and on Founders' day of that year Mr. Carnegie will attend the exercises and deliver an address at the dedication.

Secretary Church is the authority for this statement. He stated yesterday to a reporter for The Gazette that Mr. Carnegie had promised to visit Pittsburgh on that day and participate in the exercises which would mark the consummation of his plans. Mr. Carnegie will return to this country in November and will visit Pittsburgh shortly after his arrival on this side of the Atlantic.

The meeting between the trustees and the joint committee of councils was held yesterday morning in the Carnegie building. In the absence of W. N. Frew, president of the board, who is at the seashore, John B. Jackson presided. The members of the councilmanic committee are Gebbart Sahner, Henry Fitzpatrick, D. F. Crawford, W. J. Zahulzer, W. E. Sankey, S. J. Wainwright, Jr., and D. J. Bole. Messrs. Wainwright and Bole did not attend the meeting.

Small Committee Best.

After an informal talk the trustees concluded that a smaller committee could handle the work with greater dispatch than the whole board, and a special committee consisting of William McConway, John A. Brashear, W. L. Scaife, W. H. Stevenson and Charles S. Crawford of the plan and scope committee, and Robert Pitcairn, John B. Jackson and A. W. Mellon of the committee on municipal relations, with Secretary Church, was appointed to have direct charge of the selection of the site and to work in conjunction with the councilmanic committee.

Next week's meeting will be held at the institute. The committee will drive to the three sites and after an inspection will debate as to which is the most desirable. Some of the councilmen object to spending any money on the purchase and favor the free site at the Murdoch entrance to Schenley park. The site on the hill above Fifth avenue contains 52 acres and can be purchased for $1,400,000. This plot is favored by many of the trustees. The 11-acre tract on Forbes street, it is said, can be bought for $400,000.

Will Inspect Sites.

The members of the councilmanic committee who advocate the selection of the Schenley park site declare that the city cannot afford to make an appropriation at this time sufficient to enable the purchase of the 52-acre tract at the price asked. Chairman Zahner said his committee would hear what the trustees desired and they would make a report to councils recommending the course which appeared best for the financial interests of the city. While the committee did not want to retard the progress of a good work its members thought that advantage should be taken of the abundance of ground which Schenley park offered.

John S. Lamble, president of select council, but not a member of the councilmanic committee, who is a member of the Carnegie institute committee, said councils were ready to take up the matter of providing a site for the school as soon as they can learn the requirements of the trustees. As yet they do not know what the plan and scope of the proposed institution is, and until that is learned they cannot decide on how much ground is necessary.

Damage to Floating Dry Dock.

WASHINGTON, D. C., Sept. 18.—United States Consul General Bragg at Havana has cabled the state department confirmation of the press reports of an accident to the big floating dry dock there which recently was purchased by the United States from Spain. He says the dock broke near the center while the end sections were being suspended.

STRENGTH AND FOOD.

The First Comes from the Last.

When proper food is used in sickness the recovery is much more rapid and sure, and a food that is good and easy of digestion is right for anyone.

Mrs. H. L. Gordon of Corry, Pa., was taken down with nervous prostration and heart trouble about a year ago, and for weeks it seemed that she could not live.

She says: "The medicine I took for my nerves and heart injured my stomach and I grew steadily worse until I could retain nothing. For weeks I was kept alive on one teaspoonful of beef tea and one of lime water every hour, and after a while I could not even continue that. I grew weaker and weaker and finally was compelled to use sweet oil to feed the bowels, until one day my daughter suggested that I try Grape-Nuts dry, as I could not retain anything moistened. After the third day I began to steadily mend, and for weeks and months I ate them three times a day.

"When I began eating Grape-Nuts I weighed 75 pounds; now I weigh 110 and am doing my housework and eating nearly any and everything. I tell everyone I hear complain of poor stomach to try Grape-Nuts, and many have, on the strength of my cure."

FAMOUS REGIMENT HAD ITS REUNION

VETERANS OF 63RD GATHERED AT EDGEWORTH.

Conspicuous among the reunions of veterans this week was that of the gallant Sixty-third Pennsylvania volunteers, held at the Edgeworth club house, Sewickley, yesterday, the exercises beginning at 11, upon the arrival of the train from the city.

The annual dinner was served in the large ball room of the club. The annual election took place during the business meeting in the morning. The camp fire was a source of much pleasure and interest, being enlivened by the usual reminiscences of war times.

During the meeting Miss Henrietta Keil and George Chalmers, well-known vocalists, sang, and both were made honorary members of the regimental association. Comrades from all over the county were present.

The Sixty-third was organized in Pittsburgh by Col. Alexander Hays and mustered into service August 1, 1861, participating in 26 battles, including Gettysburg, Fredericksburg and the Wilderness, with the almost unparalleled record of 883 casualties out of 1,300 men enlisted.

By a strange coincidence Gen. Alexander Hays, who was killed in action on the bloody field of the Wilderness, fell among his comrades of the Sixty-third, that being his original regiment.

Among cherished relics displayed only on occasion of these reunions, is the old regimental banner and a staff guidon, presented to Mrs. Hays by that dauntless soldier, Gen. Phil Kearney, the one-armed hero, who lost his life at Chantilly, the Sixty-third also being present in that fierce fight and witnessing the death of their leader. These trophies are in the care of the family of Gen. Hays, who reside in Sewickley and who always take an active interest in the reunions of their father's illustrious regiment.

Capt. David Shields, who comes of Revolutionary fighting stock and had a brilliant record, was re-elected president of the regimental association, while the general's son, Gilbert A. Hays, is secretary and his grandson and namesake, Alexander Hays, treasurer and assistant secretary, both having held these offices last year. During the past year the surviving fragment of this famous organization has been reduced by 12 deaths. The remaining original members number about 100.

If you find a cold creeping on, keep a bottle of Dr. Jayne's Expectorant near at hand, and take a dose occasionally. It will relieve at once, and soon bring about a cure.

FRIDAY, SEPTEMBER 19, 1902.

FOURTEEN PAGES.

For many years past the management of affairs political in this county has gone from bad to worse, until our county organization has degenerated into a mere instrument for registering the edicts of a narrow oligarchy which has usurped the rights of the people and arrogated to itself all the powers of government. Under this regime public place has ceased to be the reward of public or private merit, or even of faithful party services, but has been doled out to those who showed the greatest zeal in following the behests of their self constituted political masters. The county officers elected under these conditions have for the most part become mere figureheads; subordinate appointments are made, not by the official heads, but by the man behind the throne, who is the actual controller of affairs, and the real king of the county. This condition prevails also to a certain extent in the organization itself, for it is no secret that the nominal chairman of the county committee has but little to say in its management, which for the most part is dictated by one who has announced to the world his retirement from politics.

Such a condition is humiliating to a self-respecting Republican under any circumstances; but it becomes intolerable when emphasized and aggravated by the fact that these people, holding their power as they do by the fetish of the Republican name, are not themselves faithful to party ties or mindful of party obligations. Through their treachery one Republican candidate for governor has gone down to defeat, and it is suspected that the machinery of their organization is about to be used to compass, if possible, the downfall of another. The legislators chosen at their behest have repeatedly refused to act with their party associates, and during two whole sessions sought to prevent the election of a Republican senator, who was finally chosen without their votes and in spite of their violent opposition.

In state conventions the pliant followers of this delectable organization, nominal holders of credentials from historic Allegheny, have simply been pawns to further the personal and political interests of their imperious masters. In the last state convention, to carry out a bargain that would have made Jeffrey blush and put Tweed to shame, five-sixths of the county delegates were forced to vote contrary to their plain political duty and their own personal inclinations. Had the delegates from Allegheny county been left to themselves, not six or seven, but at least thirty of them would have voted for Judge Pennypacker; but, as one of them put it, "the bosses had issued some political promissory notes, and we were forced to redeem them."

If it were possible for the Republicans of Allegheny county to free themselves from their present thralldom by means of the regular party machinery, we would gladly advise them to do so; but this is simply out of the question. With the primary election boards subject to their absolute dictation, with the party rules, amended times without number, so intricate that nobody understands them but themselves, the bosses have so fortified themselves that to contend with them at the primaries would be as futile as to play with gamblers whose dice are loaded and whose cards are marked. Under such circumstances revolution is not only justifiable, but becomes an imperative duty of citizenship. No matter what promises are made, we firmly believe that good government will not come to Allegheny county until those now in control of its affairs are swept out of place and power. We are therefore of opinion that the members of the Republican party, who constitute a large majority of our people, should at this time support the Citizens movement and vote for most of the Citizens candidates for office. We do not say all, for some of the regular nominees are worthy of support, and ought, in our opinion, to be elected. In the first place, we think the Citizens leaders made a grave mistake in naming any candidates for judicial positions. We hold that a judge, once on the bench, should be continued there as long as he lives, regardless of politics, unless he is corrupt or incompetent. For this reason we advised our readers last year to vote for Judge Kennedy, who is a Democrat, and we now advise them to vote for Judges Stowe and Cohen, who are Republicans.

In the last state convention the delegates from the Sixth legislative district, six in number, refused to obey the behests of the bosses, or to assist them to carry out their corrupt bargain; and in spite of pressure amounting almost to duress, they decided to support for governor the man who best represented the sentiment of their constituents. It is not going too far to say that their action, breaking, as it did, the solid phalanx of the Allegheny delegation, turned the tide in favor of Judge Pennypacker, and, in our opinion, saved the state from a Democratic governor. The delegates were upheld in this course by the advice and earnest support of Messrs. George M. von Bonnhorst, W. W. Murray and George W. Foster, all of whom are residents of their district, and by their two candidates for the legislature. The three men above named are candidates on the regular Republican county ticket — Mr. von Bonnhorst for recorder; Mr. Murray for commissioner, and Mr. Foster for treasurer. It is reported that the "organization" proposes to sacrifice them and the candidates for the legislature in the Sixth district at the coming election on account of their independent action at the state convention. Whatever they lose on this account should be made up to them tenfold by those who indorse and approve of their courage and independence.

With these exceptions we think that a better and purer Republicanism will evolve from the election of the Citizens candidates, congressional, senatorial, legislative and county; and feeling that in so doing we will be rendering good service to our people and our party, we will use our best efforts to bring about that result.

Pennypacker's Direct Speech.

Judge Pennypacker at Erie made a forceful reply to the stump arguments of the Democratic candidates. It is especially applicable to ex-Gov. Pattison, who, though he promises much, cannot point to an instance during his two terms as governor wherein he did anything worthy of mention to discourage the bribery and corruption about which he talks. The sessions of 1883, 1885, 1891 and 1893 did not differ conspicuously from those of 1887, 1889 and since in the character of their legislation or the rumors of corruption attendant upon it. Yet no one knows of Gov. Pattison doing anything to make those sessions more pure. He vetoed some bills, as other governors have done, some very good bills among others.

Judge Pennypacker promises that if any measure is passed by bribery while he is governor he will veto it. That promise is worth something. It is founded upon a long career on the bench, during which the judge administered justice fearlessly and honestly. It is the word of a man who has never been known to hesitate in doing his duty. It is not a vague assertion that something indefinite will be done in some uncertain way, but is a specific pledge that bribery will be discouraged by every means in the governor's power.

Nothing could present a stronger contrast to the wholesale charges and misty promises of the Democratic candidate than the simple, straightforward, earnest, specific assertions of Judge Pennypacker. The Republican candidate is not a polished orator, but he is a man of character, speaking his mind without evasion or artifice.

An Unsuccessful Dash.

Lieut. Peary is back from his latest expedition northward. The intrepid explorer is glad to be in civilization again, and civilization is glad to receive him, even though his dash to the pole was unsuccessful. While he did not reach the northernmost point on the globe, he says he made "most important scientific discoveries." He does not disclose the nature of these, but they will all be made known, doubtless, in his lectures. As a matter of fact, Peary did not push as far north as some of his predecessors. He was obliged to turn back at 84 degrees 17 minutes north latitude. The "farthest north" point reached by Nansen in 1895 was 86.14. Capt. Cagni of the Abruzzi expedition went a trifle farther in 1900, when with four men he attained on the frozen sea the latitude of 86 degrees 33 minutes.

The race for the north pole has become decidedly intense in recent years, for expeditions have sailed from the United States, Sweden, Italy, Denmark, Russia and Monaco, but practically the pole is no nearer discovery now than it was seven years ago, when Nansen drifted in the Fram. Between the dash and the drift there appears to be but little choice as a means of getting close to the desired goal. Bitter cold and impracticable ice packs in the latitude north of 85 have so far formed an impassable barrier. The north pole still stands in its primeval ice fields, laughing at the efforts of man to reach it. Doubtless those efforts will be successful some day, and national pride leads to the hope that the man who makes the successful dash will be an American.

Good Line of Action.

While Controller Larkin declines to say that police court business has been conducted in the interest of the vice syndicate, his action in detailing an auditor to attend Central station hearings indicate a suspicion on his part that such may be the case. At the least the controller is of the opinion that insufficient revenues are returned from that source and that apportunity exists for a grave abuse. The system of "graft" that has obtained under the political control which has so long held the city fast is of such sweeping character as to suggest it might have a hold upon the administration of minor justice.

In any event the action of the controller should be of advantage to Supt. McAleese in the work he has in hand. The controller's request for an ordinance officer—held up in select council—whose duty it would be to keep a check upon police court matters, should be granted. If there is no tampering with fines the presence of such an officer would have the effect of warding off the temptation to begin anything of the sort.

A Robber's Fatal Mistake.

There is one robber less in this section, owing to the courage of Carl Reichard, night operator in the railway station at Ford City. Nine out of ten men would have submitted had they been placed in his position, the robber having the "drop on him," but Reichard proved to be the exceptional tenth man, and after a portion of one of his ears had been shot away he managed to end the career of the robber and would-be murderer.

Robbers have been so successful hereabouts of late that the Ford City affair is a gratifying variation, and it is to be regretted there are not more such endings where robbers pounce upon apparently defenseless persons. The man who was killed is said to have been a notorious burglar recently released from the penitentiary, and therefore in expediting the fellow's exit young Reichard has done the community a double service by preventing one robbery and making others impossible. It is evident the intruder was confident the operator would be an easy victim, having been taken by surprise while in the midst of his duties, but it was one of those fatal mistakes that are made by desperadoes now and then, and which result satisfactorily in a decrease of the criminal element.

Not Seeking Sympathy.

There will be but little surprise over the rejection by the Women's Confederate Memorial association of Gen. Eli Torrance's plan for aiding the Alabama veterans. Gen. Torrance, who is the commander of the Grand Army of the Republic, had proposed the aid of that organization in building a home for survivors of the lost cause, and the offer drew from the women's association the following resolution: "We will never consent to accept aid from a union veteran, either to build soldiers' homes or otherwise assist the remnant of our southern heroes. We demand the respect which our truly noble part in the civil war makes our due."

During the long civil strife the southern women were noted for their unwavering support of the Confederacy and their animosity toward the north, and it is but natural that much of this spirit still lingers; on the other hand the men who fought for the Confederacy have more readily abandoned the old-time bitterness, as has been frequently demonstrated in the past decade. There will be little, if any, northern censure of the action of the southern women, for it is realized they are sincerely desirous of providing for their veterans without any aid from former opponents.

President Roosevelt's western tour will be marked by a welcome as fervid and cordial as the progressive people of that section of the country know how to give. Many of the people who will greet him knew and loved him when he was simply "Teddy."

China is in a turbulent condition and the penalty imposed for a previous disturbance is almost more than it can bear. What indemnity, except territory, can be collected if the chastisement must be repeated?

Prince Henry has promised to come over and take a look at the St. Louis fair. St. Louis on her part has promised to show him as fine a bunch of caged aldermen as can be found in the world.

Mr. Bryan's assertions as to what he would have done had he been elected president in 1900 are about as vital to the present situation as a last year's baseball score.

In view of Mr. Morgan's attitude on the coal strike it may no longer be doubted that silence is golden so far as its expense to the coal consumer is concerned.

The Adirondack deer hunters are not doing much in the deer line, but the fall crop of coroner's cases has been materially increased.

That story about an American-British-German steel trust bobs up at regular intervals, but fails to make a good case for itself.

Now that Wu Ting Fang has qualified as a resident of Atlantic City, the sea serpent may as well go out of business.

George Fred Williams is doubtless wondering if there were any other persons within the zone of the explosion.

If every attempt at robbery and burglary could have a Ford City finish, the courts would have less to do.

England also invites attention of the powers to conditions in Roumania. Maybe there has been collusion.

GOTHAM IMPROVES NOT FAST ENOUGH

Has Done Many Things for Children of Late, but School Room Is Scarce.

THE PITTSBURGH GAZETTE BUREAU,
Herald Building, Herald Square,
NEW YORK, Sept. 18.

Mayor Low believes that New York city is steadily improving in general condition. In his weekly "talk" today, his honor called attention to the fact that children are cared for much better than they were 25 years ago. In the course of his remarks, the mayor said that public sentiment today demands not only that there shall be public schools, but that there shall be small parks, children's playgrounds, recreation piers and playgrounds on school roofs in the summer. Roof garden playgrounds are the latest suggestion, and they are likely to be generally in use in the course of another summer or two. The mayor referred to other changes that have come about in New York. One is the improved food given to paupers in city institutions. That, however, seems to be merely offered as showing the superiority of this administration over that of Mayor Van Wyck, and, therefore, has too pronounced a political flavor to be impressive. Still, the fact remains that children are treated with more consideration than they were a quarter of a century ago, in spite of the lack of room in the schools for all who desire and have a right to attend. The chief value of the mayors' "talk" today, in the general opinion, is that it indicates a determination to do away with the congestion in schoolhouses as rapidly as possible. With 60,000 children attending school only half time because there is no room for them all day, even so optimistic a personage as Mayor Low must admit that conditions in this city are not all that might be desired. That they will be improved seems likely. The authorization by the board of estimate and apportionment of the issue of bonds for school buildings to the amount of $6,000,000, is a good sign. Perhaps, in another two years, when the mayor, whoever he may be, expresses an opinion on school conditions, he may be able to say truthfully that there is a seat for every child of legal school age. That is what interests the average parent in this metropolis.

Return of a Baritone.

J. P. MacSweeney, an old-time Pittsburgh operatic baritone, has just returned to New York after six months' absence. He is remembered by old Pittsburghers as singing baritone roles in all the well-known light operas, and later as the sergeant in "The Girl I Left Behind Me," which part he played for three years.

Crossed Tammany Wires.

The "true inwardness' of the Devery campaign in the Ninth district was discussed in the Hoffman house lobby this evening. According to one Tammany man, who is supposed to know, the secrets of the organization, John F. Carroll, who would like to be boss of Tammany Hall, put up Devery to fight Frank Goodwin for the leadership of the Ninth district so that he might split the John C. Sheehan vote and thus freeze him out. If Devery had not been a candidate, Sheehan, representing the Greater New York Democracy, might have won. This would be a calamity to Carroll because Sheehan being his deadly enemy, it would have been a vote against Carroll in Tammany Hall. Devery made the bargain that he was to kill Sheehan in the Ninth, allowing Goodwin to win. When Devery got into the fight he felt as if he would like to win on his own account, and he spent $35,000 to accomplish his wish. How he did it is now a matter of history. What the braves are waiting to see now is how Devery will square himself with Carroll. The crossed wires in any political organization are always interesting, and in none more than Tammany Hall.

Dispiriting Day in New York

This has been a miserable, drizzling day and business has moved with sluggishness, in harmony with the conditions outside. New Yorkers are more susceptible to the influence of weather than the people of Pittsburgh and other cities that are not accustomed to steadily clear skies and invigorating atmosphere. Now that so much soft coal is used the air becomes uncomfortably heavy when there is any dampness abroad, and the city is almost as dark as Pittsburgh itself on a wet day.

Hammerstein's Ultimatum to Union.

Oscar Hammerstein is in the heat of a squabble with the Musical union. He fell out with that body some two years ago and has employed non-union musicians in his theaters and roof garden ever since. Now that the roof garden is about to close and the Victoria theater to open, the union is anxious to control the Hammerstein orchestra. Oscar has given the union until Saturday to take in his men without charging them more than the regular dues. If these terms are accepted he will have a union orchestra hereafter. If not, why—Oscar Hammerstein enjoys a fight more than most men.

A Hard Road to Travel.

Lower Broadway was never harder to navigate than at present. As in so many other parts of the city there are new buildings under construction in nearly every block, and the sidewalks, narrow at any time, are now almost impassable. This sends the tide of pedestrians into the roadway, where things are even worse. Heavy trucks, delivery wagons, cabs, automobiles and the ever-present street cars are tangled in a mass of moving machinery which threaten life and limb from Canal street to the Battery. One of the very bad places is the intersection of Broadway and Fulton street. This morning when the hubbub of horses and vehicles was at its very worst, a drunken man deliberately laid down in the middle of the roadway, as if inviting something to crush him. Instead, the big policeman at that corner seized him by his coat collar, straightened him up and lifted him to the sidewalk. The officer was too busy to take the man to the police station, so he merely gave him a gruff "G't'ell out o' that!" and shoved him down Fulton street out of the way. It was only an incident, but it was characteristic of the time and place.

Roosevelt's Face Familiar.

New York gets a good many glimpses of the president of the United States nowadays. He will be at the Jersey City depot tomorrow, arriving on the yacht Sylph from Oyster Bay, and he surely will be received by a group of personal friends and loyal citizens when he gets to the station. It is one of the pleasure trips of the time to go over to see President Roosevelt when he is is going or coming by railroad, and he moves about frequently enough to make the announcement a common one. We shall not see him for some time after tomorrow morning, however, for he is to be away three weeks, visiting 17 states in that period.

George Gould a Busy Man.

There was bustle in the Western Union building today. Word had been passed along that "the old man" was in town and might be in any moment. The person thus affectionately referred to was George J. Gould, whose offices are in the Western Union building at Broadway and Dey street, and who soon makes his presence known by his whirlwind movements. Thoroughly democratic, George Gould bounces in or out of the elevator, makes room for his fellow-passengers, and, perhaps, exchanges opinions on the weather with some of them. Then he flies down Broadway, dodging other pedestrians and stepping into the gutter occasionally, just as do hundreds of other busy New Yorkers. Mr. Gould was around the office for a little while this afternoon, but most of the time he was circulating among the offices of business associates further downtown. Whatever it was he had on hand evidently it involved swift movement, both of legs and thought.

Formerly a Pittsburgh Manager.

A half-million dollar theater, roof garden and restaurant, five stories in height, will be built in Harlem at the northwest corner of Seventh avenue and One Hundred and Twenty-sixth street. It is understood that the manager of the theater will be Nelson Roberts, who used to be manager of the Duquesne theater, Pittsburgh.

Grand Duke's Broadside of Denials.

It was a shock to popular belief when Duke Boris declared, through one of his suite, before he sailed from New York for Russia today, that he did not drink out of a chorus girl's slipper in Chicago. He also denied that he got up from the dinner table of a grande dame in Newport because the hostess was served before himself. He was still denying things, through his attache, when the ship pulled out of her slip in the North river. It matters little whether the yarns about the grand duke were true or false. The main point is that he is a good fellow, and that he has made lots of friends in this city, at least. Judging by the remarks heard in hotel corridors tonight every second man about town must have shaken hands and taken a drink with the grand duke at some time or other.

Pittsburgh Phil and His Rival.

"Pittsburgh Phil" is said to have won $30,000 on Astarita at Gravesend yesterday. Horsemen tonight seem to be more interested in the winnings of Dick Kane, who used to be a telegrapher, but who now, at the age of about 35, has a stable of thoroughbreds of his own and picks up big sums on other men's horses besides. "Pittsburgh Phil" is expected to win or lose big, and his movements awaken no surprise, whatever he may do. He and Kane stood side by side tonight in one of the Broadway hotels, and it was remarked that there was a strong resemblance between them, so far as concentrated immobility of countenance was concerned. As one experienced individual remarked: "You can tell them for plungers by the turn of their eyelids." In other words, both have the "race-track face."

City Pinching an Anthracite Firm.

One firm of coal dealers in this city is being squeezed by the police department. Anthracite was selling today at $11.75 a ton. This particular firm is under contract to supply the police department with 300 tons at $5.12 a ton, the remainder of a 2,300-ton contract. Commissioner Partridge today ordered that the 300 tons should be delivered at that price, in accordance with the terms of the contract. The firm say they cannot do it. If they do not, the department will buy coal in the open market at the ruling figure and make the firm's bondsmen pay the difference. So there is a howl of dismay from Mulberry street to the coal yards.

Mayor Low Goes to Gettysburg.

After disposing of his weekly "talk" today, Mayor Low, with Gov. Odell, departed for Gettysburg to attend the exercises at the unveiling of the statue of Gen. Slocum. The mayor, accompanied by Mrs. Low, went to the Twenty-third street ferry of the Pennsylvania railroad in his automobile, which is his favorite vehicle. There was a large party on the Pennsylvania train, including the veteran Gen. Daniel E. Sickles, one of the most picturesque old soldiers in New York city. The general is as lively as a boy, in spite of the absence of the leg that he left on the field of Gettysburg some 40 years ago.

Taking No Tunnel Chances.

Progress was slow in the Grand Central tunnel today and thousands of commuters were half an hour late in getting to business. The heavy day caused the soft coal smoke to hang low and the tunnel was full of fog. With the recollection of the dreadful accident in the tunnel a few months ago in their minds, engineers ran very slow. They had difficulty in making out the signals, and they would not take chances. The delay was the most serious that the tunnel has seen in several months. Many of the passengers who were stalled at the end of the tunnel left their trains and came down on "L" and surface cars. Such extraordinary precautions are taken by the railroad men at this tunnel, particularly when the weather is bad, that it is not likely there will ever be a repetition of the tragedy of last winter.

Not Too Late For Swimming.

Chilly weather does not dismay expert swimmers in this part of the country. They do not care how cold may be the air or water when there is a chance to gain fame and prizes in a swimming contest. There will be great sport in the water at Travers island, on the Sound, on Saturday, although the bare thought of swimming in this weather makes the unaccustomed individual shudder. The swimming championship of the Amateur Athletic union is to be decided, and swimmers from all parts of the country, including Pittsburgh, have entered for the contest. It is expected that the occasion will be the biggest of the season in its way.

More Talk of Banishing Mosquitoes.

New Jersey's state entomologist brings comfort to the commuter who is obliged to fence in his country home with chicken wire to keep the mosquitoes out, while he smokes like a furnace to drive them away from the front yard. The official says that fish eat mosquitoes' eggs, and that the rest of them can be destroyed by filling in the wet places in the salt meadows that are the principal breeding places of the insect. What with fishes and fillings-in, he thinks he can kill every mosquito between Hackensack and Newark in a short time. The commuter shrugs his shoulders and thinks he has heard something like that before.

The Logical Candidate.

From the Philadelphia Public Ledger.

The political leaders of New York, who on Saturday declared President Roosevelt the logical candidate for 1904, may have perceived the height and breadth of the flood of popular sentiment in his favor, and so shrewdly got into the lifeboat with him; but whether in 1904 they be with him or against him he will still be the logical candidate of the Republican party for re-election. The people will so declare unless things go much awry with him during the next two years.

LITTLE DAUGHTER CHANGED HIS JOB

One Tiny Sentence Enough to Open the Eyes of Her Father.

To illustrate the effect of little things in shaping the lives of men was the excuse for telling the story of Dicky Beck. Sedalia folk, says the St. Louis Globe-Democrat, will rise to say that Dicky Beck is not his name, but when the story is retold they will recognize their townsman. Just how many years ago he came to Sedalia does not matter, but when he came he was fresh from the fatherland, hardened by the years of toil and economy of that advanced civilization. He knew naught of the new country where he sought a home. Perhaps, then, he cared little. Work he had always performed, and for a daily wage that here was but a pittance. In seeking employment it was natural that an offer of a countryman who kept a respectable corner groggery should be accepted. Here Dicky toiled early and late. His round, stolid face, and his snow-white apron became familiar to the patrons of the place. Frugal to a surprising degree, he amassed what to him seemed, sufficient for the risk of matrimony. Taken from the social sphere in which his occupation and association placed him the wife was happy and content in the early years of their married life.

Dicky toiled on, never relaxing his practices of economy and self denial, so that when the little daughter came it was solemnly decided that she should have all the educational advantages that the enlightened and enterprising community afforded. In the early days of her childhood, when in the primary and lower grades, the daughter trudged off to the public school with slate and books under her arm, happy in innocence and childish ignorance. As she developed, day by day, bright at her tasks and beautiful to the eye of Dicky, the man's heart swelled with pride and affection. He thought of her almost constantly while at his work. He hurried home at evening that he might take her on his knee and from her learn of the triumphs which had been recognized by the little, square, green "reward of merit," which she was frequently able to exhibit. He planned for her future and the time when, blossoming into full womanhood, he would take from his hard-earned savings to start her well in life with some stalwart countryman who sought her hand. Perhaps, too, there would be sufficient in that store for him to return to the fatherland and show to envious companions of his youth the beautiful young woman who called him "daddy," as she looked up into his face with affection.

The child grew older. She entered the upper grades, and was beginning to affect the first graces which mark awakening womanhrood and the end of childhood. A shadow seemed to come between her and her father. She was less frank and joyous in his presence. Often when he took her in his arms and searched the soft girlish face for the look of supreme affection and happiness he caught instead just the remnant of a shadow, which she tried to drive from it. The old man grieved not a little. In vain he racked his brain to divine the cause. This could not go on always. The crisis came when, one day, returning home earlier than usual, he found the daugher sitting on the stoop crying as if her heart would break. The father leaned over the child and drew her to him. He pleaded with her to unburden her heart to him and tell of the cause of her grief. She shook her head and would only reply, "Nothing, daddy; nothing." Mystified and determined, he begged and commanded that she keep nothing from him. Through tears and sobs that shook her frame, she finally said: "The girls—the other girls—won't play with me," and when he, in surprise, begged the reason why, she sprang from his arms, and as she burst into a fresh paroxysm of grief and dashed through the door, sobbed: "Because my daddy is a bartender."

Dicky leaned far back in the broad armchair and fixed his eyes on the white gate. There he sat for an hour staring straight before him. Then he rose wearily and started across the little porch. Suddenly he straightened himself to the full of his diminutive height and with determined air strode down the walk and to the street. He entered the place of his employment, passed to the back room and took from its nail his white apron and spotless coat and wrapped them tightly in a little bundle. "I want whatever is coming to me," said Dicky as he looked across the bar at his employer. "I am throwing up my place, and am going to get work elsewhere." The facts could not be kept long from the gossips of the town. Dicky found employment in a grocery. The work was hard and the pay was less than he had received for years. But the shadow which he had seen in the face of his idolized child was gone, and not even a remnant of it could be found by Dicky as he looked eagerly for it in the succeeding days. That was years ago. That little farm just three miles from Sedalia, with the comfortable little cottage, the neatly painted fence and the finest crop that has been grown in the vicinity for years, belongs now to Farmer Beck.

A Horrible Possibility.

From the Chicago Tribune.

The chief executive at the close of a winter day, sat in the family sitting room, gazing at the flickering shadows on the wall and thinking.

The voice of the mistress of the white house broke upon his reverie.

"Theodore," she said, "the room is getting cold. "Will you please put a little coal in the grate?"

"My dear," he replied, "You know I am a member of the Firemen's union, do you not?"

"Yes."

"Well, I relieved word today we have gone on a strike. If you want that fire poked you will have to do it yourself."

THE SANCTUM SAGES.

If there is a spot anywhere on this footstool where life is any more strenuous than it is in Butler, well we'd like to hear about it.—Butler Times.

Out in Iowa a sweet-voiced telephone girl, who always answered a wealthy banker's calls very promptly and took care to give him the right number each time, is now the bride of the banker with a working interest in his fortune of $1,000,000. Remember this girls and always speak pleasantly to the millionaire when he rings. We noticed you were quite pert with us one day recently when we wished to ask the butcher if he had any liver.—Oil City Blizzard.

There is but one more week of single blessedness for the editor of this paper. A young woman has consented to take our name and share with us the burdens and joys of life. She is Miss Elsie Kitzmiller, youngest daughter of Mrs. Lavinia Kitzmiller. Her father was Frank Kitzmiller, a veteran of the civil war, who died one year ago. The time set for the ceremony is next Wednesday at 2 o'clock in the afternoon at the home of Mrs. Kitzmiller. A number of friends have been invited—but not nearly all. The house would not hold one-third of those "we" should have been pleased to see present. (This is not the editor we—"we" having assumed a new significance). But there will be enough, we hope, to fill the house and see that the job is well done. There will be no attendants. "We" will be the whole show. There will be no tears—every one will be so glad to see us (editorial us) finally married. There will be a happy, handsome couple, the handsomeness being contributed by the other half. No one's life is complete who lives alone. No, of course not. To develop into a surly crabbed, soul-shriveled old bachelor, or dwindle away an old maid full of vinegar and fool notions—what unhappier fate! To form a complete and useful life, marriage is a necessity as well as a luxury. Yet these considerations are mere side issues. The first consideration is to find some one you can love, respect, admire. Love is apart from logic. It is capricious. It frowns upon wealth, tramples over differences of age, breaks down any established rules of precedence and astounds the coolly systematic. We are it. Time passes slowly.—Highland Vidette.

PERSONALS.

Daniel O'Day of New York, vice president of the National Transit Company; C. N. Payne of Titusville, general manager of the same company; N. F. Clarke of Oil City, formerly vice president of the South Penn Oil Company, and John Tonkin of Oil City, superintendent of the United Gas Company, were Pittsburgh visitors yesterday. Mr. Payne said their meeting had no special significance. The thing that most concerned them at present is how they can expedite the completion of the extension of their pipe line system into the Kentucky fields. He stated that they had deliberated a considerable time over the advisability of building the extension, and finally decided the production in sight and the impetus that a pipe line would give to operations, would in time justify the large investment. He said the line's completion would depend entirely upon how soon the mills could deliver the four and six-inch pipe. If not delayed on that account, he said they would be pumping oil from Kentucky to their trunk line at the mouth of Bear creek on the Little Kanawha river in Ritchie county, W. Va., by the first of next January.

Prof. C. F. Koch, instructor of gymnastics in the Humboldt school and in several Turnvereins of the South Side, had an experience on his recent visit to Germany which shows how the stars and stripes are regarded in the fatherland. At Pforzheim, in Baden, Prof. Koch gave an exhibition of American gymnastic methods before an audience of 9,000. During a club-swinging number of the program he threw off his coat and displayed a belt formed of a twisted American flag. As if an electric impulse had run through all the vast crowd, an instantaneous cheer rent the air and 9,000 pairs of hands moved in vigorous applause. Prof. Koch says the friendship of Germany and the Germans for America and the Americans is everywhere in evidence—an American visitor "owns the country." Some of the leading journals of Baden—which was the home of Father Jahn, founder of the Turn societies—devoted large space to praising the American gymnastics of Prof. Koch. While at Mannheim he initiated a number of Germans into the mysteries of boxing, the "noble art of self-defense" being almost unknown there.

John N. Parson of New York city, master workman of the Knights of Labor, and J. Frank O'Meara of Washington, D. They are visiting the local assemblies in relation to the meeting of the general assembly at Niagara Falls on November 15. Mr. Parson said the coal strike in the anthracite region has had more effect in New York and the New England states than in any other section of the country.

A party of four well-known business men will start today for a vacation on the northern shore of Georgian bay, Canada. The party will include Charles W. THE DEATH ROLL.

Mrs. B. S. Sloan.

Mrs. Cynthia McComb Sloan, wife of the Rev. B. S. Sloan, well-known among the Presbyterians of Western Pennsylvania, is dead at her home in Indiana, Pa., aged 78 years. The Rev. Mr. Sloan, who is now retired, was for many years connected with the Blairsville presbytery and occupied several important churches. Mrs. Sloan was the daughter of George McComb, who was one of the early settlers at Gladerun, Armstrong county, Pa., was a soldier of the war of 1812 and one of the first elders in the Gladerun Presbyterian church. Both she and her husband were graduates of the Gladerun academy, which, 30 years ago, was one of the most prominent educational schools in Western Pennsylvania. She was also a grand-daughter of Gen. James McComb of Indiana, who served in the revolutionary war and was instrumental in establishing Indiana county and who represented that county for seven years in the state legislature. Mrs. Sloan is survived by her husband, one son, Shields Sloan of Indiana, who is a brother-in-law of Attorney General J. B. Elkin, and one daughter, Mrs. Reymer, wife of Dr. John A. Reymer of Indiana; and one brother, Maj. J. C. McComb, who resides at Tarentum, and one sister, Mrs. Jacob Pence of Arkansas City, Kan. While the Rev. Mr. Sloan was actively engaged in the ministry Mrs Sloan took an active part in all benevolent and charitable societies connected with the church and filled many important positions in the different societies.

Reason Was Sufficient.

From the Philadelphia Public Ledger.

Judge Pennypacker, as court was about to open, was accosted one morning by a little girl, who said.

"Please, sir, my father wants to know if you can't excuse him from the jury today. He can't get his shoes on."

"Why, what's the trouble, little one?" asked the judge, kindly.

She looked at the floor and did not reply; and he, thinking there was a deception, repeated his question, but in sterner tones.

"Why, it's because he don't wear boots, sir; but I wasn't told to tell you that. Papa's the man with the wooden legs, sir."

COLLEGE STUDENTS HURRYING AWAY

There Is Much Sorrow at the Parting for More Reasons Than One.

THIS is the collegian's week. All over the country he occupies the center of the stage. Hundreds of homes are being torn up with pathetic scenes of parting as their favorite son or daughter breaks away for college. Incidentally the owners of many of these homes feel an involuntary, spasmodic clutching at their purse strings before they separate themselves from the rolls of hard earned cash needed for the year's "schooling." Railroad stations are crowded with the knowledge seekers and the baggage smasher finds his stock of Saratoga expletives too meager for the occasion. From the Jersey coast, where the halls of old Nassau re-echoes with Tiger yells to the sunlit slopes of the Rockies that take up the lusty cheers from the Leland Stanford gridiron town after town is being taken by storm and made to pulsate with new life as its college campus once more overflows with eager students.

An interesting study are these young travelers as they scatter about the Union station. Four years-four grades of dignity, four degrees of self-confidence, four stages of intellectual progress, and four ways of showing to the public that "I am going to college."

Only yesterday a tall youth, bending with the weight of two big satchels, hurried from a train and stopped at the gate long enough to inquire anxiously, "Is this Pittsburgh?"

"'Fraid he will miss his change, ain't he," grinned the gateman, as the freshman passed on into the station. For freshman he was an unsophisticated embodiment of unorganized intelligence, to use sophomoric terms. Under his eyes there was a suspicious redness, but he would never admit he cried when he left home. "Twenty-five minutes till your train," he was told at the ticket window where he gingerly pulled out a well-filled wallet from his inside vest pocket. For 10 minutes he sat on the end of a seat feasting his eyes on the beautiful walls and ceiling of the station. Then with a nervous tug at his new gold watch he stalked out to the trainshed, where he stood guard between his satchels until the eastern express arrived.

Two sophs might have been seen at the other end of the waiting room. Ruddy complexions and generous calves were proof that hard study had not injured their physiques. A natty suit case was their only luggage. Conspicuous on their vests were a bit of college color and a fraternity pin. Scraps of conversation, bristling with opinions, proved they were well up in college life: "Alpha Delts," "Betas," "Fem Sem," "gym," "Old Banty's exams," "dorm," "math," "chapel cuts," "ne quarter," "Thanksgiving game" and prexy's promises—to their particular selves—a medley of college slang and "I's" by turns puzzled and disgusted the portly man at their side, who did not know that they were U. of P. boys entering upon their second college year.

"See that fellow over there, the one with the patent leathers and silk umbrella," asked the station usher the other day. "No; the tall one—violin case and tennis racquet in his hand," he continued, as his companion failed to "spot" the right person. "Well, he's been talking to those three girls an hour. Mighty good lookers, too. He came in early and goes out on the next train to Ann Arbor. He's fed 'em candy and they've given him flowers till it's a whole circus to watch 'em. Not a bad kind of fellow, either. He tipped me a quarter to get him a telephone. Wonder who he is?"

An exclamation of "Junior prom" from one of the girls a moment later told the story. A "naughty-four" man from the University of Michigan, musical, gay and witty, with a trio of fair acquaintances all intent upon getting an invitation to the "junior prom" in December.

"Your last year, aint it, Charlie?" quizzed a hustling little business man, as he edged up to a monument of dignity, who was passing his mileage book through the ticket window.

"Yes," the bland individual condescended, in a bored tone, as if he felt that he was doing Harvard a favor by returning. "I was going over the pond for that special work I told you about, but the 'Gov.' thought I better get my sheepskin first. I don't like it much, for the courses are not exactly what I want, and some recent changes in the faculty have given our crowd some very poor timber to choose from. But I'll manage to grind out some P. G. work next summer and be ready for Germany next fall."

"I WISH that encyclopedia manufacturers would adopt a definite system of subject classification and stick to it," said a literary man to a friend.

"What's your grievance?" asked the latter.

"I had occasion to look up some information about north pole expeditions, and I sought for it in the Encyclopedia Britannica. My first guess was that I would find it under the head of 'Arctic Expeditions.' I took the A volume from the library to my desk and turned to the word 'arctic.' There was information about the Arctic ocean, and then came a note: 'For north pole expeditions see polar regions.' I took back the volume I had and got the other. That article did not carry the history far enough for my purpose and I determined to examine the volumes of the Supplement to the encyclopedia. Profiting, as I though, by my previous experience, I got the volume that should have 'polar regions' in it, but under that head all I found was: 'See Arctic Explorations.'"

No Honor for Gamblers.

From the Japan Times.

Last Thurday a splendid funeral procession was proceeding from Hongo to Shitaya in order to bury the remains of Taroji Fukazawa, the head of the gambling den of Hongo and Asakusa, when the policemen of the Hongo police station stopped the procession and ordered that the funeral should not take place in such a splendid manner, as the deceased was a convict, whose term of punishment was not yet expired. The accusation was true and the bereaved family was therefore compelled to carry out the burial service in a stealthy way.

Reached the Center, Anyhow.

The boys who started out to circle the globe got as far as Pittsburgh. And really that town is a very important part of the world just now.

CRAIG.

"William Craig, secret service corps,
Died on duty"—And nothing more?

William Craig—not a muffled drum
Throbs its cadence of grief today;
Nor any songs from the bugle come,
Singing their dirges along the way;
Yet there are men who are better now—
Better than ever they hoped to be—
Men who would gaze on your pallid brow,
Thrilled at death and its mystery.

William Craig—where you lie today,
Still and peaceful, with drowsing eyes,
Would that you knew what the people say
Softly for him who for duty dies!
Sweeter than anthem or chant or dirge,
Greater than eulogy, fine and fair,
Are all the thoughts that to language surge
While you're deep in your slumber there.

Laurel and myrtle, and rose and rue—
Marks of honor and grief—they lie,
Shrouding the body that once was you—
Sturdy and stanch when you came to die.
William Craig—can you understand,
There where the shadow encompasseth?
Surely you hear it—the tribute grand,
"Died on duty—the greatest death!"

FOUR SOUTH SIDE PROPERTIES ARE SOLD FOR $34,000

SQUIRREL HILL HOUSE BRINGS $19,000

Pittsburgh Company Will Build a $400,000 Brewery at Rochester—Offer of $10,000 a Front Foot for Wood Street Lot.

The Pittsburgh, Virginia & Charleston Railroad Company appeared in the market again yesterday as the purchaser of four South Side properties, paying $34,000 for them. Two of the properties are located in the Twenty-fourth, and two in the Twenty-sixth ward. The deals were all negotiated by P. D. Nicols & Co. From the Evan Sherry estate the railroad bought an irregular shaped plot with extreme dimensions of 45x67 feet, located on the south side of Carson street near Sarah street. The lot is improved and brought $12,000. A lot 34x87 feet adjoining this one in Carson street was bought from Dinah Strong for $5,000.

In Edwards alley, near South Eighteenth street, George N. Munroe sold to the railroad an improved property, 40x60 feet, for $10,000. Another plot, 32x60 feet, also improved, and adjoining the former, was secured from L'Union Fraternelle Francaise for $7,000. The buildings will be razed shortly to make room for track improvements.

Lawyer Buys Squirrel Hill House.

Through the W. H. Skivington Company Harry M. Gross has marketed another of his new residences in the Squirrel Hill district for $19,000. The property is known as No. 5852 Bartlett street and is situated on the south side of the street, about midway between Shady and Murray avenues, Twenty-second ward. The lot measures 72x150 feet. The residence, which is just completed, is a 12-room colonial brick house, with a hard wood finish throughout. It was bought by a well-known attorney, who will occupy it as a home. This is the sixth residence of this character that Mr. Gross has disposed of within the last three months.

James B. Haines, Jr., the wholesale dry goods merchant, has purchased from Mrs. Carrie De B. Duncan a fine home site in the Beaver road near Osborn, for $10,000. The sale was made through Joseph P. Rankin & Co. The plot has a frontage of 223 feet on the north side of the road, with a depth of 258 feet. It adjoins the holdings of Attorney John R. Harbison and is directly in front of the McIntosh estate. The purchaser intends to erect a $15,000 brick and stone residence, which he will occupy as a home.

A $400,000 Brewery.

Plans have been completed and the contracts awarded to Gottlieb Wyss for a $400,000 brewery at Rochester, Pa. The brewery will be built and operated by the Beaver Valley Brewing Company, of which V. Wyss Thalman is president, Gottlieb Wyss vice president and Louis Thumm, Thomas Best and C. T. Hohn directors. All are Pittsburgh parties.

The brewery will be located on a plot 257x122 feet at the corner of New York and Sycamore streets. It is to be a six-story brick and steel structure, fire proof, and equipped with the latest machinery. In connection with the brewery will be an ice plant with a daily capacity of 50 tons and an electric light and power plant. Plans for the building were drawn by Architect V. Wyss Thalman and they will be erected under his personal supervision. It is expected that the brewery will be in operation by July 1, 1903.

The contracts have just been awarded by Architects E. M. Butz & Co., Limited, for the erection of three fine houses in the East End, to cost $12,000 each. One of them will belong to Ira C. Ewing, one to Mrs. Mary White and the third to Henry O. Cameron. The two former will be built by George W. Malott and the last by Frank Metcalf. All the houses are to be built in Thomas street. They will be pressed brick dwellings of the colonial type of architecture, with a hard wood finish and three bath rooms.

The same architects have plans for a $10,000 reception hall brick house to be built for E. H. Yeager in Bain avenue, Bellevue.

Water and Sand to Fight.

After a constant fight with water and sand for three months the contractors have succeeded in placing 23 of the 36 concrete piers in the foundations of the Bessemer building which Henry Phipps is erecting at the southwest corner of Sixth street and Duquesne way, and the first of the steel supports are now being placed in position. Constant pumping and the most careful watching have been necessary to perform the work without accidents. The solid concrete piers are put down to a depth of 36 feet, and are set a section at a time, in order to avoid danger to the surrounding earth and walls. Fifteen cars of steel are now on the tracks and this will be erected as fast as the remaining piers can be made.

The 20 feet on the south side of the site, which formerly belonged to Anton Lutz, will have a one-story room built on it, the space above this to be devoted to a light court for the main building, which will be 11 stories high. The general management of the work is in charge of Henry B. Nayler, Mr. Phipps' building superintendent, and the contract for erecting the steel skeleton has been awarded to R. S. Wright, who put up the frame of the Pittsburgh Bank for Savings building.

Sensational Offer in Wood Street.

An offer of $10,000 a front foot was yesterday submitted for the former Reuben Miller property, Nos. 430-432 Wood street, through a Fourth avenue trust company. The lot is 27x60 feet and has erected on it a six-story brick building now occupied by A. L. Sailor & Co., clothiers. It is located on the east side of Wood street, between Fifth avenue and Diamond street, and the making of such an offer for the property would indicate that a larger deal was on foot. The property was bought by Mr. Sailor something over a year ago for $95,000, and since that time he has spent about $55,000 in improving the building.

Reports received from brokers who handle property in every part of the downtown district, indicate an unusual number of inquiries for business lots. Within the last two days one firm in Fourth avenue has received nearly 20 bona fide proposals from would-be buyers who are looking for downtown real estate as a lucrative investment. While prices rule high, there is no prospect of their coming down at present, and shrewd capitalists who have watched the trend of the real estate market for two years, are more confident than ever that the frequent examples of quick and large profits can be repeated.

New Plant for Lawrenceville.

The Phoenix Galvanizing and Manufacturing Company has purchased from George Bingham a property, 123x160 feet, at the southeast corner of Fifty-seventh and Harrison streets, Eighteenth ward, for $12,500. The plot adjoins the holdings of the Allegheny Valley Railroad Company and of the German Chemical Company. The galvanizing company is now located at No. 2 Duquesne way, where its business has outgrown its quarters. A one-story iron and steel building to cover the entire lot will be erected at once, preparatory to the firm's removal to its new site.

Another Mt. Lebanon farm has changed owners, the amount involved being $45,000. The farm consists of 44 acres and is located in Union township, facing the Saw Mill run road, and extending back toward Mt. Lebanon. It belonged to James M. Price and was purchased by J. W. Bauersmith, the builder, who, it is said, will plot and improve the property at once.

Brick and Stone Works to Cost $20,000.

Trafford City, the new Westinghouse town at Stewart station, is fortunate in having a good supply of building material close at hand which will lessen the cost of building considerably. The Trafford City Brick and Stone Company is the name of a new concern that applied for a charter Wednesday, and proposes to develop the fine deposits of sand, stone and clay that have been discovered. The place of operating will be 1.5 miles from Stewart station, up the Turtle Creek branch, where the company will at once build a large brick plant and equip a stone quarry. The total investment will run close to $20,000. The members of the company are H. C. VanOrmer, Robert C. Clarke and S. H. Lloyd.

The contract for the erection of St. Stephen's Roman Catholic church has been awarded by the architect, F. C. Sauer, to Benz Bros., the estimated cost being $55,000. The church will be built on a lot facing 80 feet in Second avenue, opposite the end of Elizabeth street, the building being at the corner of these two thoroughfares.

Architects Allison & Topp will be ready for bids on the four-story brick apartment house to be erected in Washington, Pa., for William Forgie, at a cost of $25,000.

Twenty-first street: C. C. Hamilton sold for J. K. Scott to James Fanning Nos. 60-62 Twenty-first street, Twelfth ward, two brick dwellings, on a lot, 24x120 feet, for $8,700.

Allegheny: The Federal Realty Company sold for Ernest Meyer to Miss Mary Anderson a property in West Jefferson street, Allegheny, for $4,000.

Two important real estate deals were closed in Homestead yesterday. C. W. Erbeck, president of the Business Men's association, sold his property in Eighth avenue to the Homestead National bank for $20,000, over $800 a front foot, establishing a record for business property. The bank, which is now located at the corner of Sixth avenue and Ann street, will be moved to the new site at once. Across the street the Germania hotel was sold by Myles McConnon to David Edwards, for $22,000. The same property was sold two years ago for $12,000, and has changed hands three times since.

The wedding of Miss Ruth Agnew, daughter of Edward Agnew, and George Brown Zanhiser of New Castle, Pa., took place at the Sewickley Presbyterian church at 8:30 o'clock last evening. The Rev. William O. Campbell, pastor of the church, officiated, and a very large bridal party was in attendance. The church was filled with a fashionable crowd, and following the ceremony a reception was given at the home of the bride's parents in Grant street to about 200 intimate friends and relatives. The maids of the bridal party entered from the front of the church, passing in single file past the altar, up the aisle to the rear of the church, where by twos they joined the remainder of the party and proceeded down the aisle to the front of the church. Miss Agnew entered the church with her father and was given away by him. The flower girl, who preceded the party, strewed the aisle with red rose leaves.

The bridal party was Miss Rebecca Taylor of Sewickley, as maid of honor; Miss Alice Agnew, a sister of the bride; Miss Louise Collin, Miss Elizabeth Hewing of Sewickley, Miss Mary France of Allegheny, a neice of the bride; Miss Jeannette Bell of East End, Miss Catherine Zahniser of Mercer, Pa., a sister of the groom; Miss Florence Osterout of Ridgeway, Pa., and Miss Anna Nelson of Chambersburg, being bridesmaids. Albert W. Zahniser was his brother's best man and the ushers were C. A. Agnew, a brother of the bride; W. W. Scott of Sewickley, Edward A. France of Allegheny, a nephew of the bride; George Pearson, James Wallace, Thomas Dickey, Charles Johnston and Robert Aiken of New Castle. Christina Brown, the small daughter of Mr. and Mrs. J. K. Brown, was flower girl.

The bride was handsomely gowned in a creation of soft satin, with trimmings of duchesse lace, wearing the same elaborate veil as was worn by her sister, Mrs. James M. Smith, at her wedding two years ago. It was at this wedding that the bride met Mr. Zahniser, to whom she was married last evening, he being an usher at the former wedding. The maid of honor wore a gown of white embroidered mousseline de soie, and the maids of honor wore white French nainsook lace gowns, both being trimmed in ribbons of white and both carrying bouquets of American Beauty roses. The autumn colors were used in the decorations, the color scheme being red and green. Palms, ferns, smilax and crotan were banked around the organ loft and pulpit, the shades on the lights being covered with red. After the ceremony the wedding dinner and reception was given in a covered pavilion built for the occasion, adjoining the Agnew residence. The decoration of the pavilion was pink roses. The bride and groom left last evening for an extended trip, their plans being known only to themselves. Mr. Zahniser is quite prominent in New Castle as well as Pittsburgh, and quite a number of his New Castle friends were in attendance upon the wedding.

Closing of Clothing Bureau.

With regret the managers of the clothing bureau announce the temporary suspension of their work, on account of having to vacate the quarters now occupied in St. James' parish building, at the corner of Penn avenue and Sixteenth street. It was hoped by the management that the bureau, which has become a part of the Public Wash House and Bath association, could continue in its present location until the new building in Butler street is completed; but owing to the growing work of St. James' parish, the rooms are required, necessitating immediate removal.

For seven years this work of selling partly worn articles of clothing and furniture to the worthy poor has gone quietly on, helping many families to be more comfortable, without pauperizing them by indiscriminate giving. Money obtained from the sales is again used in giving employment in sewing to other needy ones. With the completion of the building at Butler and Thirty-sixth streets, the erection of which has been largely made possible by Henry Phipps' generosity, the sale of clothing will be a prominent feature of that institution. The managers hope that when the bureau opens in its new location the public will remember its needs and continue to be as generous in the future as in the past.

Van Horn—Harper.

Miss Mary Jeannette VanHorn was married last night at 8 o'clock at the home of her parents in Travella boulevard, to Arthur R. H. Harper. The ceremony was performed by the Rev. G. W. Terbush, D. D., pastor of the West End Methodist Episcopal church. The marriage service of the Protestant Episcopal church was used. There were no attendants, and the bride was given away by her father. She was gowned in white and carried white roses. The ceremony took place in the parlor, which was prettily decorated for the occasion. Only the intimate friends and relatives witnessed the ceremony, which was followed by a wedding supper. After supper the bride and groom left for an extended trip through the west. They will be at home after October 15 at No. 4750 Liberty avenue. Mr. and Mrs. A. M. Johnston of Freeport were among the out-of-town guests. They were only married two weeks ago, and Mr. Harper was one of the ushers on that occasion. Miss VanHorn has been connected with the West End branch of the Carnegie library since it was opened, and has many friends.

Mrs. Howard Miller of Crafton avenue, Crafton, gave a reception last evening for her son, who was married last week to Miss Arthelia Hastings of Morgantown, W. Va. Among the out-of-town guests were Mr. and Mrs. Hastings of Morgantown, W. Va.; Mr. and Mrs. Richards of Chicago, Miss Kearney and Mr. Kearney of Chicago, the Rev. Her veil was fastened with lilies of the valley, and she carried a large bouquet of the same flowers. The maid of honor wore a white pointe d'esprit gown over green taffeta, and carried white roses. The ceremony took place in the parlor, which was draped and decorated with southern smilax. After the ceremony there was a wedding supper. The dining room was beautifully decorated with white roses and lilies of the valley. After supper the bride and groom left for an extended wedding trip. They will be at home after November 1, in Frankstown avenue.

Double Wedding Journey.

The bride was Miss Naomi Sloan and the groom Deputy Prothonotary I. E. Collner, both of Clarion. The Rev. G. A. B. Robinson of the First Presbyterian church performed the ceremony, which was witnessed by only the immediate family. After luncheon the young couple left on the noon train for Foxburg, where they will meet Walter A. Graham of the First National bank of Clarion and wife, who were married this morning at Oil City. George W. McDonald of the Seventh United Presbyterian church. The color scheme of the wedding was pink and white. The bride wore a gown of white point d'esprit, over white taffeta, and carried a bouquet of white bride's roses and maidenhair fern. The wedding supper was served at the home of the bride's brother, William Frederick, yesterday being the anniversary of his birth. After the supper the young couple left for an extended wedding tour through the east. They will be at home after October 1 at No. 1914 Beaver avenue.

Pollock—Gabby.

WASHINGTON, PA., Sept. 18.—(Special.)—The wedding of Miss Anna McN. Pollock and Harry W. Gabby took place here this evening at 7:30 at the home of the bride's father, J. W. Pollock, on East Chestnut street. The cermony was performed by the Rev. Pressly Thompson, pastor of the Second United Presbyterian church, assisted by the Rev. H. W. Temple of the First United Presbyterian church, in the presence of over 150 guests. The best man was Harry Pollock, a brother of the bride. Miss Mary E. Wilson was maid of honor and Mary Gabby and Alice Wallace were bridesmaids. A wedding supper was served and the bride and groom left on an evening train for trip of two weeks in the west. They will make their home in Washington.

Engagement Announced.

Miss Mary Reed of North Negley avenue gave a very prettily-appointed dinner last night at her home, at which her engagement was announced to Dr. Willet Patterson Hughes, a well-known young East End physician. Covers were laid for 15. The diningroom was decorated entirely in pink, exquisite pink roses forming a fine centerpiece on the table, and the lights being pink shaded. The dinner cards were heart-shaped little booklets, with an inner leaf, on which the announcement was made. The date for the wedding has not yet been set.

Hutchinson—Rodgers.

Last evening a quiet wedding was celebrated at the residence of Mr. and Mrs. D. W. Hutchinson, in Fourteenth avenue, Homestead. The bride was their daughter, Anna J. A Parlor Table That Is Sumptuous

There are Parlor Tables which are a real ornament to the place they occupy.

It is ornate in the best sense, being embellished most artistically. The top and sides are elaborately inlaid, and as the body and legs are of mahogany you may picture to yourself the rich effect produced. 3 feet long and 2 feet wide. Best gold trimmings.

But why should not a parlor table be richly effective? The parlor deserves the very best. The furnishment need not be expensive, but it should be tasteful.

The parlor furniture shown at this store is unique. The styles are ALL confined to this establishment. Hence, those who seek the choicest things at prices that are modest, come here as naturally as if each piece in the stock were a personal invitation.

Persons who make careful comparisons are invariably convinced that it pays to come to

The North Pitcairn Plan Of Lots

recommends itself to any and all who can appreciate a really good thing.

The Great Pittsburgh Transfer Station

which has been very fittingly called

The Great Gateway to the East and West.

"Can you buy a lot, perfectly level, situated in an ideal location, on a 50-foot street, which is to be macadamized at the expense of Allegheny County, for $400?"

SATURDAY, SEPTEMBER 20

IS LIKELY TO BE THE ONLY DAY YOU WILL HAVE THE CHANCE.

Why are These Lots Desirable and Valuable?

BECAUSE—

1—Of their elegant location.
2—There are no hills to climb to reach property.
3—Transportation Facilities are perfect.
4—Prices are lower than other plans in district.
5—Here you have city life without its expense.
6—Streets are graded.
7—This plan is a desirable place to build a home or as an investment.
8—You can build here cheaper than elsewhere.
9—Fuel will be cheaper, there being a mine nearby.
10—Abundant water is assured—located 1-4 of a mile from proposed 70,000,000 gallon reservoir of the Pennsylvania Water Company.
11—Every investor is bound to reap handsome profits.
12—The title of this property has been guaranteed by the Guarantee Title & Trust Co., of Pittsburgh, Pa.

All the streets in the plan are wide. Walls Avenue, the principal thoroughfare, is a 50-foot street and will be macadamized by Allegheny County. The lots are perfectly level, and the price on this street is

ONLY $400.00

They won't last long. A prominent real estate man remarked just a few days ago that the minute Walls Avenue is macadamized PRICES WILL IMMEDIATELY DOUBLE.

League Games Today.

Chicago at Cincinnati.
New York at Brooklyn.
Philadelphia at Boston.

Patsy Donovan and his troupe of Cardinals made the champions do a lively lot of hustling at Exposition park yesterday afternoon in order to annex their ninety-seventh victory of the season. The game went 10 innings and the champions managed to nose out the victory by a score of 7 to 6, to the delight of the 1,652 spectators.

As per promise, Donovan presented for inspection his elongated battery, Weaver and Hackett, and either one of the pair could give Vic Willis a few points and beat him out as regards height. Weaver is the catcher and Hacket the pitcher, and both are over six feet and built on the order of a trolley pole. Looks, however, cut no figure with that battery and if it can only keep up the work shown yesterday, Donovan will have a prize pair next season. Hackett has all that a pitcher should have, including a good, cool head, and Weaver is a rattling good catcher.

The Tall Battery a Good One.

The elongated battery did not get a very good start, and in the earlier innings Clarke's crew made merry, but after the fifth Hackett settled down to business and hits were as few as Prohibitionists at a Democratic convention. In fact, in the latter innings of the game Hackett outpitched our own Jesse Tannehill, but in the 10th the strain told on him, and he let down. Donovan has nothing to be ashamed of in that pair, and they are sure to make their mark in the big show.

Tannehill, who was pitching for the champions, was not as effective as usual, and at times was just a bit wild. In two innings he allowed the visitors to bunch hits, and this secured enough runs to make the break an even one, and thus force an extra inning. Bransfield, who injured his knee in Wednesday's contest, was out of the game, and Phelps took his place, but had nothing difficult to do.

Some Great Fielding Feats.

There was just enough hitting in the game to give the fielders a chance to display their ability and this made things pleasant for the spectators. Smoot of the Cardinals made a couple of catches which called for cheers, and Conroy also contributed a fine catch, but the play that capped them all was made by Manager Clarke in the 10th inning, when he got Donovan's bold bid for a hit. Fred made a head-first dive for the ball, and after rolling over two or three times came up with the sphere in his hands. It was a great catch, sure enough.

The visitors got their first run in the second inning, when Nichols drew a base on balls, reached third on Kruger's single to right, and scored on Weaver's life. In the third a single by Farrell, a double by Smoot and a single by Nichols netted two runs. In the eighth singles by Hackett and Farrell, a double by Smoot and an out at first produced the three runs which tied the score.

Pirates Got a Fine Start.

The Pirates started off with one in the first, when Sebring drove the ball to right for three bases and scored on Clarke's out at first. Three runs were scored in the second as a result of singles by Ritchey, Tannehill, Sebring, Clarke and Leach. In the fifth two more were scored on a single by Leach, hit by pitched ball to Wagner and singles by Conroy, Zimmer and Tannehill. The winning run was scored by Tannehill in the 10th after Zimmer had gone out Jess drew a base on balls, went to second on Sebring's single to center and scored on Clarke's timely single to right. The score:

NOTES OF THE GAME.

Manager Clarke had his strong arm with him and the way he landed on the ball showed he meant business. In the second inning Fred broke two of his pet bats swinging on the ball.

The champions will journey up to Homestead this afternoon and try conclusions with Howard Rishler's clever team. Alex. Jones will pitch for the Steeltowners and McLaughlin will likely to duty for the champions.

Conroy robbed Hackett of a hit in the eighth inning by making a great running catch. Smoot also played the same kind of a trick on Wagner when he gathered in Honus' liner in the third inning, when the ball was not a half foot from the ground. Both catches were clever displays of fielding and the makers of them were roundly applauded.

When the game started Weaver, the Cardinals' catcher, appeared on the field wearing a red cap, which is against the rules, as the other members of the team wore gray caps. Umpire O'Day called his attention to the rule and Weaver tried to borrow a cap, but could find none that would fit him and he was finally allowed to go through the game wearing his little red cap.

Jimmy Williams, the ex-Pirate who is now Baltimore's second baseman, took in the game from the grandstand; Jimmy is off with a sore knee and came here on a visit to his wife, who is living with her parents in Allegheny. The ex-Pirate looks in good trim and will rejoin his team early next week.

Sebring being a tall fellow himself takes kindly to tall pitchers and Hackett was his meat yesterday. On his first turn at bat the newest Pirate soaked out a three bagger and just to show there was no hard feelings he cracked out a couple of singles at other and very important stages of the contest.

Just before the start of the game when Umpire O'Day called out the names of the batteries some one in the grandstand shouted, "Who is the umpire?" and Hank's retort was "The umpires are over there in the stand," pointing to where the betting crowd holds forth. This reply raised a general laugh and Hank was voted a wit.

That catch of Clarke's from Donovan's bat in the tenth inning was worth the full price of admission. Donny had made one of those sneak hits of his right over the infield and it looked safe, but Fred came in like a Crescus and when within snatching distance made a head first dive, grabbed the leather, turned three or four summersaults and came up smiling with the ball in his hands.

Weaver, the tall catcher of the Cardinals, may be just a new recruit in the big league, but he worked a neat little trick on Freddy Clarke just the same. It was in the second inning, when Clarke was on third and Leach on first. Tommy darted for second and Weaver made an awful bluff at throwing the ball down. Clarke started head down for the plate and ran chuck into Weaver and the ball. The crowd laughed and Fred walked out to left with bowed head.

POOLE'S CLEVER WORK.

Held Chicago to Two Hits and a Shutout.

CINCINNATI, Sept. 18.—Poole held Chicago down to two hits here today and administered a complete shutout to the visitors. Only one man reached third. Cincinnati had trouble in connecting with Williams up to the seventh, but then two hits in succession brought the first run across the plate. Morrisey and Schafly, both new men, conducted themselves well. Attendance, 2,100. Score:

WANT TO ADVANCE

An Effort Will Be Made to Change the Junior Basketball League.

There is a move on to change last season's junior basketball league into a greater organization. One of the team managers said last night:

"The basketball league, which was known as the Junior league last season, was certainly misnamed. Only a few of its players were under 19 years of age and a large majority of them were 21 or the next thing to it. To call such an aggregation a junior league is preposterous.

"When the Junior league was first formed, three years ago, it was really a junior league. The players ranged from 15 to 17 years of age, and the limit was placed at 16 years. The next year the age limit was raised to 18 years, in order to let the players of the previous season continue in its ranks. Even at this limit, there were quite a number of the players who were not eligible, but were permitted to play just to keep the league from breaking up. Last season the limit was placed as high as possible. Anyone not 21 or over was eligible to play in this league. And yet it was called a junior league. If it was a junior league in the first year of its existence, with an age limit of 16 years, how is it possible for it to be such now, with a limit of 21 years, a limit under which the best players in the game can participate?

"Why not advance this league a step and call it a minor league and allow anyone to play in it who has not yet played in the major league? This seems to be the only thing the Junior league of the past three years can do, unless the best players are taken on the major teams and the poorer ones do the best they can.

"A junior league, which would be such in the true sense of the word, could be formed of the third teams of Pittsburgh and Allegheny and vicinity. There are quite a number of teams which would, doubtless, enter a league of this kind if it was once started. Some of the best teams of this class are the Manchester third, Sterling A. C., Riverview A. C., Sewickley third, South Side Crescents and Bouquet Y. M. L. third. A league formed of these six teams would prove a first-class organization and would be supported by a large number of enthusiastic followers of the different teams."

READY FOR PLAY.

Manchester Basketball Team Is In Fine Shape.

The Manchester third team met last week and elected S. W. Graham manager and Harry Hassler captain for the season of 1902-03. The team will be represented by five of the players of last year's team, viz.: Tannehill and O'Neil, forwards; Thompson, center, and Hassler and King guards. F. Alton and Drum have quit the team. Harry Alton has been taken on as extra forward and an extra guard will be chosen from the numerous applicants for the team. The boys have been practicing hard for the past few weeks and are already handling the ball with quite as much skill as they evinced last season. They have not determined as yet where they will play this season, but have decided to stick to the Manchester Juniors and play preliminary to the home games of the latter team.

The manager intends to arrange a series of games with all third teams in this vicinity that can put up a good, stiff game and expects his team to pull out ahead of the bunch at the end of the season. If a junior league is formed of the 16-year-old teams, the Manchester third will be in it to win the pennant, and any other team expecting to gain that honor will have to put up an extremely fast article of ball. Any third team wishing games with the Manchester third team can be obliged by addressing S. W. Graham, 1308 Juniata street, Allegheny, Pa.

BUILDING THE SHAMROCK.

Lipton's New Yacht Will Be Ready Sooner Than Expected.

LONDON, Sept. 18.—Confirming the dispatches of the Associated Press on the subject the Yachting World today says:

"All the plans for building the Shamrock III. are in a most forward state and it is certain that she will be ready for launching much earlier than either Sir Thomas Lipton's previous challengers. The mild steel for the plating will be specially manufactured with the view of securing minimum weight and maximum strength and reliability. Although she will not be nearly such a costly vessel as her predecessors, no expense will be spared which will in any way increase her chances of success."

The All-Stars was made up of players from the Windsors, Acorns and various other teams, and also Smith of the Southern league. THE INJUNCTION HAS BEEN GRANTED

LOUISVILLE COURT RULES AGAINST FIGHTERS.

Case Will Be Taken to Court of Appeals Today and Manager Gray Confident of Victory.

[BY ASSOCIATED PRESS TO THE GAZETTE.]

LOUISVILLE, KY., Sept. 18.—Judge Field, in the Jefferson circuit court, tonight granted the injunction prayed for by State's Attorney General Pratt to prevent the contest between Terry McGovern and Young Corbett, scheduled for next Monday night. The attorneys for the Southern Athletic club will apply to the court of appeals tomorrow for a dissolution of the injunction and a decision in this matter is expected by noon. A dissolution of the injunction by the appellate court would mean a victory for the promoters of the contest.

Concerning Judge Field's decision Manager Robert C. Gray of the Southern Athletic club said to the Associated Press tonight:

"At 11 o'clock tomorrow morning my attorneys will apply to a judge of the court of appeals for a dissolution of the injunction. The defense claims Judge Field has no jurisdiction. My lawyers say there can be no injunction against an alleged criminal offense. I am absolutely confident that the contest will take place."

STEEPLECHASE A FARCE.

Two Horses Fell and Race Was a Walkover.

CHICAGO, Sept. 18.—The Emulation steeplechase handicap over the short course at Hawthorne proved a farce today. GREAT KILLING WAS MADE AT GRAVESEND TRACK

Deresseke's Victory in Big Stake Was a Surprise.

THE BOOKS GIVEN AN AWFUL BLOW

The Winner Was a 25-to-1 Shot and the Finish of the Event Was Very Exciting—Drake Stable Had Two Victories.

[BY ASSOCIATED PRESS TO THE GAZETTE.]

New York, Sept. 18.—Frank Farrell's Deresseke, with only 96 pounds on his back and ridden by J. Martin, won the Speculation stakes at Gravesend today. The ring was hit heavily on the victory of the Farrell horse, 25 to 1 being laid against his choice at one time. Clonmell rushed to the front in a few strides and made the running to the stretch where Deresseke and Huntressa moved out and in a furious drive Deresseke won, ridden out, by one and a half lengths, from Huntressa, who beat Merito a length.

Runnels, from the stable of J. A. Drake, won the last race cleverly from Roxane. The Drake stable also scored another victory in the third race, Vincennes carrying his colors home first. The winner was bid up to $2,300, an advance of $1,200 over his entered price. The stable bid the customary $5 and retained its horse. The weather was rainy and the track slow. Summaries:

DOWN TO HARD WORK.

Wash-Jeff's Football Talent Is Getting in Shape for the Season.

WASHINGTON, PA., Sept. 18.—(Special.)—The prospects for the Washington and Jefferson football teams are becoming brighter daily. College opened yesterday for the fall term and there was an influx of candidates. Murphy and Heimberger, the big guards of last year's eleven, are here and will go into training at once. Francis has returned and will try for an end position. The candidates generally are small and there is a lack of big men, but the material looks likely.

There were 28 men out this afternoon and were given a hard practice. Greene's system of coaching is considerably different from that employed by the other coaches Washington and Jefferson has had, and is patterened after that in vogue at Harvard. When recitations will permit he gives the candidates work in the gymnasium in the morning with dumb bells and Indian clubs and on the running track. Sometimes when the weather is good he sends them with Capt. Hayes in the lead for a cross-country run of two or three miles. In the afternoon he takes the squad to the athletic field and gives them work in passing, catching, punting, falling on the ball and tackling the dummy.

He has rigged up a novel device for the dummy, which gives the men as nearly the motion of a real player as possible. Two uprights stand 12 feet high and a beam is fastened across the top 20 feet long. Just under it is an iron bar or rod on which is a pully, and to this pulley is attached the dummy. The dummy hangs about 18 inches from the ground and is attached to a spring, which releases it when the weight of a player comes on it. The dummy is pulled back and forward by ropes.

Many a Failure
Is Caused By Backache.

A man can't think or work when his back aches—
He can't even rest, or eat, or sleep—His whole system is affected—
He is tired all the time—worse in the morning than at night—
He doesn't know what is the matter with him—
But it's simple enough—
Kidneys are sick—aren't taking the poisons out of the blood — aren't doing the work nature intended them to do—
Backache is their cry for help—the warning of more serious trouble to come—

Doan's Kidney Pills

Are the only remedy that can be depended upon to give just the help needed — They're made for sick kidneys—not for anything else—Have cured hundreds of Pittsburgh men and women—never fail—no matter what the form of kidney trouble may be—ask your neighbors they'll tell you—

Read what this Pittsburgher says:

John Harris, of No. 52 South Twenty-third street, says: "I thought for a long time that it was rheumatism that caused the terrible pains in my back and shoulders. I suffered so that I could not sleep at night or work in the daytime. My urine was discolored and unnatural. I suffered almost constantly. Finally I became satisfied that my kidneys were out of order, and that the uric acid in my blood was causing all the trouble. I got a bottle of Doan's Kidney Pills at Fleming's drug store, on Market street, and felt relief after the first few doses. It was a very short time until I was completely cured, and since then there has been no return of the pain at all. I cannot praise Doan's Kidney Pills enough."

OVERSTRUNG NERVES CAUSED HER TO JUMP

Alice Bartley, Fearing Men Were Pursuing Her, Plunged Headlong Out of a Window.

"I don't know why I did it. I was too nervous to think," says Alice Bartley, aged 24, daughter of John Bartley of No. 1005 Swissvale avenue, Wilkinsburg. She jumped from the second-story of her home yesterday afternoon. She struck an awning and bounded to the street, where she was picked up unconscious. It is believed that she will recover.

Miss Bartley was visiting friends in Cumberland, Md., recently. On her way home, on the train, she saw two men who, she intimates, insulted her. She feared they were following her, and the fear became so strong that her nerves were overstrung and the mad jump from the window was the result. Her father is employed at Homestead.

WINDOW GLASS SCALE.

Wage Committee of Workers' Association Appears Before Manufacturer's Officials.

The wage committee of the Window Glass Workers' association yesterday presented its demands before a joint meeting of officials of the American and the Federation Window Glass companies. This demand provides, according to President Simon Burns, for a 5 per cent increase over the scale of last year and an 18 per cent increase over the so-called Denny scale. "We shall never make a settlement as low as the Denny scale so long as there is smoke in Pittsburgh," President Burns said.

"Considerable progress was made in the meeting this afternoon," he continued. "The proposal was made and discussed. We shall meet again tomorrow, but I cannot say when the matter will be settled."

There were almost 3,000 pots, or between 65 and 70 per cent of the productive capacity of window glass in this country, represented by the manufacturers present at the meeting yesterday.

3 REASONS WHY

AT THE BIG STORE PICKERING'S

3 Good, Sound Solid Reasons Why We Should Dispose of Our Stock at a Sacrifice.

1st. WE MOVE to our new Annex next Monday, and as all first-class stores prefer to have an entire new stock for their opening, we are not the exception and have the same desire. That is the first reason we have for disposing of the present stock at an actual reduction of 10, 20 and 30%.

2d REASON. The Summer has been a little backward. We have quite a number of REFRIGERATORS, BABY CARRIAGES, PORCH ROCKERS, ETC., that we must dispose of. They are cut 30%.

3d REASON. Some goods have been damaged by the carpenters. Ask any of your friends that were in last week, they will tell you that we have over one hundred carpenters working night and day. Naturally they have damaged some goods.

DRESSERS, SIDEBOARDS, CHIFFONIERES,

Slightly damaged; perhaps one was struck with a piece of brick or scantling, maybe only scratched, but still damaged in our eyes, and we will not put them in the new building. They are yours at a sacrifice.

CARPETS

About 200 Remnants, 50 half rolls, 75 quarter rolls must postively be disposed of this week. Odd Curtains and Mattings at any price to get rid of them.

NEW STORE POSTIVELY OPENS NEXT MONDAY.

Don't bother about the money; a few dollars go a long way this week. Come, have a look. Your Credit is Good.

R·I·P·A·N·S

No matter how careful I was in my eating, I always has such a deathly feeling shortly after, and then I commenced to have an almost constant pain in the left side, and then came a cough. Nothing seemed to help me. I had fainting turns quite often, and had one while visiting a friend and I frightened her terribly, and she was anxious to know the cause, and when I told her how I felt she said I should take Ripans Tabules, and she was sure they would cure me. I have been taking them regularly ever since and am glad to say that I am feeling much better. I am getting quite a healthy color in my face, which was very pale.

INTERNATIONAL STEEL COMBINE IDEA SCOUTED

Corporation Officials Ridicule Tale of American-British-German Trust.

NOTHING TO BE GAINED BY THE PROJECT

[BY PRIVATE WIRE TO THE GAZETTE.]

New York, Sept. 18.—A prominent commercial newspaper published this morning, under the designation of "special correspondence," a story from Berlin that an international combination of American, British and German iron and steel interests is to follow the completion of the so-called Morgan shipping combine.

Officials of the United States Steel Corporation ridicule the story. It has been rumored before that Mr. Morgan laid the foundations for some mighty hidden project during his recent sojourn abroad; that his visit with Emperor William was of ulterior significance, and that Mr. Schwab's present mission in Europe is to superintend the fruition of some transcendant Morgan ambition.

A prominent official of the United States Steel Corporation today said that, so far as he knew, no such idea had ever been even remotely entertained.

"There is no need," said he, for such a combine. Our iron and steel interests have no immediate incentive for trying to break into the foreign preserves, and shall not have, unless conditions in this country become abnormally poor. The United States Steel Corporation is not likely to depart from a purely domestic policy. It would have nothing to gain in co-operating with foreign manufacturers. It is true that a lot of iron and steel is now being imported into this country, but the volume of these transactions is not nearly so large as some of the newspapers have said."

Gates and Osgood Still at It.

Chairman Osgood of the Colorado Fuel & Iron Company, who has been in the city for the past three weeks, is now en route to Denver. Mr. Osgood declined to make any statement concerning the affairs of the Colorado company, except that there is no change in the situation. It was learned, however, that considerable pressure has been brought to bear on Messrs. Gates and Osgood to bring the controversy to an end. No progress to speak of has been made, and it is generally believed that the fight is no nearer a settlement than when Mr. Gates announced his intention of ousting Osgood.

Gould Party Given a Scare.

St. Louis Southwestern this moment is enveloped in mystery. It comes from an authoritative source of Gould information that the property is to be absorbed forthwith into the Missouri Pacific system, its preferred stock to be retired with a 4 per cent bond guaranteed by the Missouri Pacific. Other interests who ought to know say it is not exactly so.

At the last show-down of hands in St. Louis Southwestern, William L. Stow and his crowd came so near to having a majority of the stock that it was no funny matter for the Gould party. Gould interests are said to have stubbornly refused to sell. There is no doubt that St. Louis Southwestern some time will be absorbed by the Missouri Pacific.

Fuel Situation Serious.

The fuel problem is the vital and urgent feature of the iron trade today. Not less than a score of furnaces of large capacity are shut down this week for lack of coke. This is exclusive of 15 or 20 furnaces in Eastern Pennsylvania that are idle on account of the anthracite strike.

A variety of causes contribute to the congestion. The worst trouble is lack of motive power to move cars after they have been loaded. This applies to nearly all of the great railroad systems of the country, particularly to the Pennsylvania, Baltimore & Ohio and Norfolk & Western railroads, which are the chief coke carriers. Cars are scarce at times. In the Virginia districts the strikes have for months stopped most of the ovens and now that the troubles are partly over coal continues so high that mining companies prefer to ship that commodity rather than make coke.

The worst of the whole situation is that little improvement is promised as the fall advances. A settlement of the anthracite strike would be a great help, but those best informed see no prospect of an early end of that unfortunate trouble. Most consumers of pig iron have bought quite fully for both this year and next year, but as a rule they are not getting iron according to contract. Every day finds a number of large consumers in the market for prompt iron to meet the deficiency and this can only be supplied from abroad. Importations, therefore, are on a very considerable scale, but they do not come fast enough to meet the demand.

Premiums are paid for much spot iron, prices ranging from $23 to $26 according to point of delivery and grade of material. Prices of American iron are not a factor, the product being substantially sold until next midsummer.

Republic Company in Good Shape.

George A. Baird, general sales agent and director of the Republic Iron and Steel Company, who attended the meeting of the Bar Iron association in this city yesterday, returned to Chicago today. Mr. Baird said the iron and steel industry is in excellent shape and that the big crops and prosperity of the country in general assure steady operation of the mills for a long time.

He is of the opinion that the strength of the shares of the Republic company is due solely to the fact that the people are beginning to realize that the stock is worth much more than it has been selling for in the open market. The position of the company, from the standpoint of raw supply, is particularly strong.

NEWS FROM THE MINES

[BY PRIVATE WIRE TO THE GAZETTE.]

NEW YORK, Sept. 18.—A correspondent in Southern Oregon reports the discovery of a big ledge of copper ore in the Althouse district. It lies on the divide between Tiger and Kelly creeks and extends east to Grayback mountain. Assays show from 8 to 20 per cent copper and $2 to $3 gold a ton.

It is reported that the Relief Gold Mining Company has refused an offer of $1,000,000 from an El Paso firm for its mines in Arizona.

The Horseshoe Company has taken possession of the National smelter at Lead, S. D., and will begin operations next week. The August clean-up of the Kildonan mill resulted in a gold brick worth $15,000.

Yankee Hill, Col., reports a fine strike on the Oro Verde. Last week the Ross vein was cut and a three-inch streak of smelting ore was found to assay $8,600. Returns of from $120 to $160 a ton were obtained from the vein.

In sinking the shaft a large body of $30 ore has been opened in the New Year on Seaton mountain, Idaho Springs, Col.

Several lode claims carrying gold quartz resembling that of the Cochiti are being opened on the eastern slope of the Santa Fe range, 14 miles east of Santa Fe, N. M.

A 30-foot ledge with stringers of asbestos running through it has been uncovered in the White Tank mountains, 30 miles west of Phoenix, Ariz. Samples show the fiber to be six inches long. This district is rich in all kinds of minerals, but lack of water has discouraged prospecting there.

The Metal Market.

Tin was dull today both at London and here. A decline abroad of 5s placed the closing bid of spot at £121 10s and of futures at £118 5s. A sale of 5 tons spot at $26 47½ was reported on the local exchanges, where the quotations declined to $26 45@26 50. Copper was also lower in London, where prices declined 1s 3d, spot closing at £53 and futures at £53 5s. In the local market copper was dull, standard closing at $11 00@11 25; lake, $11 75@11 87½; electrolytic at $11 60@11 70; casting at $11 50@11 65. Lead was unchanged, both at London and in the local markets, spot closing here at $4 12½ and in London at £10 18s 9d. Smelter was steady and unchanged from 5½c locally, but declined 2s 6d in London, where the close was at £19 5s. Iron was lower abroad, Glasgow closing at 57s 10d and Middlesboro at 53s 9d. Locally iron was quiet and unchanged. Warrants continue nominal. No. 1 foundry, northern, is quoted at $23 00@25 00; No. 2 foundry, northern, $22 00@23 00; No. 1 foundry, southern, $22 00@23 00; No. 1 foundry, southern, soft, $22 00@23 00.

Wall Street Stock Market Maintains Undertone of Strength

TRADING SLOW EXCEPT IN SOME OF THE LEADERS

More Talk of Gould System Consolidation Is Heard, With Some Color.

MONEY QUIETER, BUT RATES STILL STIFF

Level of Prices in General List Is Not Disturbed—Banks Continue to Lose to Sub-Treasury. Shrinkage Is Decreasing.

[BY ASSOCIATED PRESS TO THE GAZETTE.]

New York, Sept. 18.—The stock market maintained its undertone of strength today, but the trading was extremely apathetic outside a spotty assortment of stocks whose show of strength helped to sustain the general list. The money market was quieter, but rates were still stiff. Loans were left undisturbed, however, and no pressure of liquidation was forced. The level of pricese, therefore, was not disturbed, except as the sympathetic influence of the strong stocks helped to harden the market. The Gould group was the most conspicuous. Reports of a plan were current with color of official sanction for an exchange of St. Louis Southwestern preferred for a Missouri Pacific bond. This was interpreted by a speculative contingent as a forerunner of the long expected Gould consolidation plan. Missouri Pacific came into the movement late in the day and took the leadership of the whole market. The return to New York of President Gould from a tour of inspection served to stimulate the movement. Rock Island made a much larger gain on a small volume of dealings. The advance was based upon the decision of the Iowa state authorities that the Rock Island reorganization plan is not in contravention of the Iowa law.

Activity in Curb Market.

There was activity and strength in the curb market in contracts for the new Rock Island securities. The stocks of independent steel companies were strong as a rule because of the reports of the extraordinary pressure of orders for all grades of iron and steel products and a degree of activity in production, which is limited only by the available supply of material. The freezing weather in the northwest was ignored until the break in the corn and wheat market, which helped to stiffen stocks. The comparative heaviness of some of the Southern railroads may have been due to the persistent unfavorable reports from the cotton crop. The money outlook continued the principal topic of discussion in the financial district. There was no radical change in the situation today. An additional engagement of $500,000 Australian gold was announced to arrive several weeks hence. The banks continued to lose to the sub-treasury, notwithstanding the disbursement by that institution on account of October government interest, the customs collections and the deposits for transfer to the interior serving to more than offset the interest payments.

WALL STREET FEATURES.

Banks continue to lose to subtreasury, but shrinkage is decreasing.

Bank of England refrains from increasing its discount rate.

Decrease Not So Great.

However, the loss to the sub-treasury since Friday has reached only $1,958,000, compared with $4,725,000 for the same time last week. While the drain is thus reduced it will be seen that nothing of the needed recuperation of the banks reserves has been afforded by the treasury's measure of relief. The fact that the Bank of England refrained from advancing its discount rate today was given a favorable interpretation. But sterling exchange here continued to harden to a full cent above the low level of the week, carrying exchange well away from the gold import point. The prices of gold in the London market was advanced and something over $1,000,000 was withdrawn from the Bank of England for shipment to points other than New oYrk. It is evident that the quiet money market in New York is due in no small part to the constraint upon the speculation at the stock exchange. The market closed dull and steady.

The bond market was dull and about steady. Total sales, par value, $2,290,000.

United States refunding 2s advanced ¾, the 3s ¼ and the old 4s ⅛ per cent. The new 4s declined ¼ on the last call.

Talked About in Wall Street

[BY PRIVATE WIRE TO THE GAZETTE.]

NEW YORK, Sept. 19.—The Herald this (Friday) morning says: The stock market yesterday was practically a repetition of the sessions of the two preceding days. Trading was curtailed, in pursuance of the policy recommended by the important interests in the street and though prices ruled strong and advances were general, there was no revival of outside interest in the market, nor is it thought is there likely to be much public buying until the money market is more nearly nominal. The operations of the day were of the monotonous pool and clique order, with which the street is so familiar, varied slightly by the buying and selling of the trading contingent.

London prices came variably changed and foreigners sold on balances, putting out about 20,000 shares, which influenced an irregular opening. Cable advices reported dull and sagging markets abroad, which were again attributed to the New York money market situation and the fears of adverse influences on foreign money markets should local bankers again seek to draw gold from Europe. British consols and French rentes both declined considerably.

The business of the day was very poorly distributed. The Gould stocks, all of which now appear to be under the manipulation of pools and cliques, were the active features. Manhattan Elevated, Missouri Pacific, St. Louis Southwestern, with Wabash and Western Union furnished nearly two-fifths of the day's dealings.

The familiar stories to account for the various movements were all repeated, but no confirmation of any of the reports was obtained. The movement in Missouri Pacific was obviously based upon the return of Mr. Gould from his tour of inspection. It rather appeared as though the story that St. Louis Southwestern preferred was to be taken over in a bond was used for the purpose of marketing pool stock.

The money market was but slightly changed from Wednesday. Renewals of call loans were made at from 8 to 9 per cent, with the greater proportion probably at the lower than the higher figure. Call money on the stock exchange touched 9 per cent, and did not go below 6 per cent. The ruling figure was about 8 per cent. Time money was offered with greater freedom and 6 per cent for all periods and nothing was heard during the day of an exaction of premiums by lenders.

Colorado Springs Pays Tribute to Memory of W. S. Stratton.

COLORADO SPRINGS, COL., Sept. 18.—The funeral services over the remains of W. S. Stratton were held from his home today. The clergyman made a touching reference to the unselfishness of the departed millionaire. Every street car in the city was stopped for five minutes while the funeral cortege was leaving the Stratton home.

It is believed there are two wills in existence, and that the second one was drafted within 30 days.

All Cereals Lower in Chicago

Professionals Take Advantage of Dullness to Put on Heavy Pressure.

CORN TAKES THE LEAD IN ACTIVITY

Reported Frosts Start Prices Strong but They Soon Take a Tumble—Wheat Holds Up Well Against Selling.

[BY ASSOCIATED PRESS TO THE GAZETTE.]

Chicago, Sept. 18.—Grain traders were waiting for a sign today. Business was less active than it has been for many days. Supporting orders were not in evidence enough to hold up prices, and with a bearish report on the corn crop put out by a leading statistical journal several professionals took advantage of the dullness to put a selling pressure on all markets. The weather conditions was an early aid to prices, particularly to corn, but depression soon followed the selling. At the close December corn was ½@⅝c lower, December wheat ¼@⅜c down, September oats ⅜c lower and December oats ½c off. Provisions closed 2½c to 22½c down.

Corn business was the most active of the quiet markets. At the start reports of frosts and rains in much of the corn belt, with freezing temperatures in Iowa and Nebraska, stiffened prices. The frost talk, however, failed to hold up prices. A prominent journal printed a report on the corn situation, saying that the crop condition had been lowered a little by the frosts, but that practically all the big crop was made. A big interest that is short heavily in both September and December put force on the selling side with a result that prices broke in December. The local crowd took to the same position and on a few stop loss orders, the decline was augmented. September held fairly steady on the poor condition of arrivals.

All News Is Bearish.

There was an increase in receipts, cables were lower and estimated receipts for tomorrow were liberal at 330 cars. December opened a shade to ⅛@¼c up at 44c to 44⅛c, dipped to 43¼c and closed weak, ½@⅝c off at 43⅝c. Receipts were 360 cars, 77 of contract grade.

Wheat ruled dull, but held up fairly well under the pressure. Corn was an influence in bringing about an easier tone, but the adverse weather for spring wheat movement, the lighter northwestern receipts than were expected, and a fair export business made the market stubborn. The market in the main was one of a waiting character. Reports had fine weather for the seeding of winter wheat. Cables were lower. December opened unchanged to ⅛c up at 69c to 69⅛c, fell off to 68½c and closed weaker, ¼@⅜c lower at 68⅝@68¾c. Local receipts were 244 cars, 10 of contract grade; Minneapolis and Duluth reported 651 cars, making a total for the three points of 895 cars against 770 a week ago. Primary receipts were 1,211,000 bushels.

There was an early drive against September oats by elevators, which knocked 1c off the price. Receipts were only fair at 173 cars, 16 of contract grade. But private houses put out 62 cars and sold against them.

In Sympathy With Corn.

The weather worked against the grading of new stuff, but the corn break was a bearish influence. Trade was small. September sold from 33c to 32c and closed weak, ⅞c off at 32¼c. December sold from 31⅛c to a weak close, ½c down at 30⅝c.

Provisions were fairly active, especially in October pork. Hogs started out weaker and later held only barely steady and were a depressing influence. There was an attempt to cover October pork, but some support was put under that commodity. Prices rallied well for a time, but renewed selling resulted in final losses in everything. October pork closed 5c off at $16 20; January pork 7½c lower at $14 97½, September lard 15c off at $10 60, October lard 17½c down at $9 60, and January lard 7½c lower at $8 47½. September ribs lost 22½c at $10 72½, October ribs 17½c at $9 87½, and January ribs 2½c at $9 87½.

IN THE OIL FIELDS.

The liberal use of nitro glycerin in the Keener sand pool, in Big Knot run, Ritchie county, W. Va., had a stimulating effect on the production, as shown by the last gauge, which gives the production at 1,930 barrels. The wells subjected to a shaking up were the Three Joes Oil Company's No. 1, on the Elroy Wagner farm, and the Mallory Bros. & Co.'s No. 1, on the John Freeland farm, the first and second wells completed in the Big Knot pool. The first increased its production to 15 barrels and the last named to 20 barrels an hour. When the previous gauge of the pool was taken the production for that day was given at 1,430 barrels.

On Wolf Pen run Smith, Wilson & Co.'s No. 2, on the Dora Arnett farm, is holding up at 380 barrels a day and the Cleveland and Parkersburg Oil Company's No. 3 on the Thomas E. Dye farm has increased its production to a little more than 100 barrels a day.

New wells are due in the sand in both developments and are important as to location.

Good Gordon Producer.

In the lower end of the Folsom district, in Wetzel county, the South Penn Oil Company has drilled its No. 18 on the Gennie Robinson tract, into the Gordon and the well produced 140 barrels natural the first 24 hours. This well is an offset for Miller Bros.' good producer on the E. A. Talkington farm. The Talkington No. 1 was drilled early in the development and produced 400 barrels a day for a time and at the end of more than two months is holding up at 170 barrels a day.

In the northeast extension of the Pine Grove district the South Penn Oil Company's No. 1, of the Martin Delaney farm, has increased its production to 180 barrels a day.

In the Bristoria district, Greene county, the South Penn Oil Company has drilled its test on the W. Harkins farm into the Big Injun and has 2,000 feet of fluid in the hole.

West of Blocksville the Fort Pitt Gas Company has completed a good gasser at its test on the Harrison Jones farm. The same company has drilled its test on the J. E. Phillips farm through the sand and has a duster.

In the Bealls Mill district, Lewis county, the South Penn Oil Company is drilling in the Gordon stray at its No. 3 on the Ida Copley farm.

Light Well for the Carters.

On the South Fork of the Hughes river, Ritchie county, the Carter Oil Company's test well on the W. B. Holt farm has been completed in the Salt sand and is not as good a producer as it seemed to indicate when first drilled in. It will not make better than a 15-barrel pumper.

Near St. Mary's, Pleasants county, the Shaffer Oil Company has completed its No. 5 on the C. W. Bills farm and has a show for a 30-barrel producer in the Keener formation. In the same district the United States Oil Company has started to drill at its No. 4 on the S. and J. Bills farm.

In the Shallow sand territory in the Calcutta district Urquhart & Co. have completed their Nos. 24 and 25 on the Zacharia Jones farm. Both are dusters in the Cow Run sand. In the same district S. Y. Ramage is drilling No. 3 on the Solomon Pethtel farm.

In the Shallow territory on the river front in Wood county the Consolidated Oil Company, incorporated, has completed its No. 5 on the A. H. McTaggart farm and has a duster at a depth of 762 feet.

Varner & Co. have drilled their test on the Brookover farm through the sand and have a duster.

On Indian creek, McElroy district, Tyler county, the South Penn Oil Company and J. M. Guffey have completed No. 7 on the Sefrona Weekly farm and have a show for a 15-barrel pumper in the Maxen sand.

In Southeastern Ohio Territory.

In the Louisville district, Monroe county, Ohio, W. R. Galey & Co. have drilled their No. 2 on the R. A. Stempert farm through the Big Lime and Big Injun formation and have a duster.

In the new development south of the old Bowerston field, in Harrison county, the National Oil Company of Titusville has completed its No. 6 on the F. N. Donaldson farm and has a 10-barrel pumper.

The Ohio Consolidated Oil Company has completed No. 2 on the E. A. Phillips farm and has a 15-barrel pumper. In the same district R. G. Gillespie has completed his test well on the M. Ramage farm and has an average pumper for that territory.

The Ann Oil Company has completed its test on the J. H. Melaney farm and has a five-barrel pumper.

In the Island creek pool, in Jefferson county, the Mannington Oil and Gas Company has completed No. 2 on the Morrison heirs' farm and has a small pumper. The Island Creek Oil Company has completed No. 6 on the J. L. Blackburn farm and has one of the same kind.

In the Carson pool, Beaver county, Pa., H. R. Lutz & Co. have drilled their No. 3 on the J. R. Scott farm through the sand and have a light gasser.

FADETTES ARE UNIQUE IN THE MUSICAL WORLD.

In offering the Fadettes, called by many the "Lovely Girl" orchestra, the Pittsburgh Exposition is presenting an attraction that is absolutely unique, for never before has there appeared anywhere a woman's organization playing practically every instrument found in a grand orchestra. The bassoon alone is not played, as only one girl, so far as known, plays this instrument, and it was found impossible to secure her for the present engagement. Caroline B. Nichols, conductor of the Fadettes, certainly has achieved remarkable results with the girls under her baton, and the success that her efforts merit is now coming in overwhelming measure.

There is an air of refinement about this orchestra and all its work that pleases the hearer; then there is a precision of attack and excellence of individual work that produces first surprise, then admiration.

Mildred Rogers has become a favorite, thanks to a commanding stage presence, coupled with a most pleasing voice. Today her numbers are a "Serenade" by Hallett Gilberte and an Irish folk song by Foote and Marziales, "My Love Is Come."

The second regular excursion of the season brought in a large number of excursionists yesterday, all of whom made the best possible use of the Exposition's attractions and privileges. This afternoon's program of the Fadettes follows:

2 p. m.

March, "Girls of America" .... Duganne
Overture, "Orphans in der Unterwelt" .. Binder
A musical tragedy, "The Mice and the Trap" .... Koehler
Selections from "King Dodo" .... Luders

4 p. m.

Local Stocks Were More Active and the Tone Generally Firmer

BANK SHARES MADE SEVEN HIGH RECORDS

HEAVY SELLING BROKE ELECTRIC SECONDS

Window Glass Common Rallied Sharply on More "Harmony" Prospects—Steel Shares Firm and Higher—Coalers Dull.

PITTSBURGH FEATURES.

Bank exchanges were $7,056,851 59.

Sales Pittsburgh stock exchange, 7,149 shares.

Seven banks made new high records.

Real Estate Trust Company was very erratic, making sensational changes in prices.

Westinghouse Airbrake declined $1 to $184.

Crucible Steel common closed at 23⅛.

Crucible Steel preferred closed at 86¼.

United States Steel common closed at 41¼.

Fire Proofing preferred rallied ½ to 40.

Coal stocks were dull.

Brewing issues declined fractionally.

Bonds were neglected.

The market on the Pittsburgh stock exchange yesterday was considerably more active as a general thing than it has been for several days. It was also unusually broad in its distribution of sales, 34 different stocks finding buyers. The tone was generally firmer and in some cases exceptionally strong, while a very few exhibited weakness. The banking group was again the feature and contained several sensational movements and changes in prices, six members selling at new high records and one closed at a new high record in the bid price. The paramount feature was Real Estate Trust Company, which gave a remarkable exhibition in see-sawing in prices. This stock, which closed Wednesday with a loss of $7 a share at $308, with offers at $306 50, opened yesterday morning at $306; then it jumped to $308, and thence to $310, $312, $315, $316, $318 and $322, the latter price being a new high record and $1 higher than was ever paid for it before. Thence the stock sold at $321, $320, $321, $317, $315 50, and closed at $317, that price being paid for one share, which left the gain for the day $9 a share, or an increase in the market's estimation of the value of the company's capital stock of $180,000 against a depreciation of the day before by the traders of $140,000, or a difference, all told, of $320,000 in eight hours' trading. The officials of the company deny all knowledge as to the cause of the movement, and the brokers, of course, cannot tell what spirit animates their patrons. One thing is quite apparent, and that is, that the intrinsic value of the stock does not, to use a slang phrase, "cut any ice" in the market value, and the conclusion is that the company will, therefore, go on in the even tenor of its way, making big dividends for its stockholders and piling up a big surplus. Other members of the group, while less erratically traded in, gave astonishing evidences of what the stock broker can do in the way of increasing or decreasing market values. For instance, there was a sale of two shares of Farmers Deposit National bank at $1,400 a share. This was a new high record and a jump of $50 a share. Peoples National bank opened at $440 and closed at $450, a new high record and a gain of $58 a share between sales. Dollar Savings Fund and Trust Company also made a new high record by advancing $5 to $280, while North American Savings Company at $118 and Pennsylvania Trust Company at $264 performed similar feats, the first named advancing $3 and the last $4, though the closing price of the latter finished with only a $3 gain. In the quotations Diamond National bank advanced $10 to $436 bid. These were the only issues that scored new high records, but there were other features of interest in the group. Enterprise National of Allegheny sold for the first time in months at 115, which was the last previous price. Federal National, which sold Wednesday at $146, a new high record, and finished at $144⅞ closed yesterday at $144, a break of ¾ in the price, with more offering. Nobody knows what caused either the advance or the decline. The bank is said to be in an exceedingly prosperous condition and there are prospects of its beginning the payments of dividends before long. It has been gradually working firmer for quite a while, and there are a number of people on the "street" who think it is worth considerably higher prices. Keystone bank was steady at $380, an advance of $5; Merchants and Manufacturers National bank sold a small lot at $148, a recovery of $3, and closed with regular lots offering at $147. Allegheny Trust advanced ½ to $155 and American Trust $1 to $123. Colonial Trust opened at $580, advanced $10 and closed at $585, a loss for the day of $5, a movement which was also without any apparent cause.

In the industrials Westinghouse Electric seconds were quite active, and after advancing ¼ shortly after the opening turned weak and declined to 111, which was a loss of $1 50 for the day. After the last sale they rallied to 111½ bid, 1,284 shares having changed hands during the session. Westinghouse Airbrake, on small sales, declined $1 to $184. The "street" is again pretty much in the dark about Electric seconds. The rumors that insiders are working to depress the price have received a good deal of credence, but the bulls maintain that even if the price is depressed considerably, there are developments coming which will cause it to go higher than it has ever yet been. All of which may be true or false. American Window Glass was fairly active, over 1,100 shares selling, and closed at 62¼, a gain of ¾ for the day. The "street" yesterday seemed to be permeated with the "harmony" idea and the consensus of opinion was that the trade would soon be in better shape than ever before. It was also said that there was not a shadow of doubt that the next quarterly dividend would be fully earned and promptly paid. The steel shares were a shade more active and considerably firmer, closing with gains ranging from ¼ to ⅝. The coal stocks were quite dull and without important features one way or the other. Brewing issues were quiet and fractionally lower. Bonds were neglected.

Wall Street Brokers' "Tips."

The Butler pool are buying Missouri Pacific.

Traders were bidding up St. Paul on the strength of Rock Island.

The stock market continues to display extraordinary strength in the face of the money situation, but I think that in time such stringency as we are now going through and which promises to last for some time longer must cause moderate liquidation and a sagging off in prices. I therefore still favor selling stocks on all rallies.

Metropolitan is a purchase for a turn. It is the cheapest 7 per cent dividend payer on the list. It sold 174 in February last and the stock is worth more today than it was then. Buy Pennsylvania. Average on any little dip. Pacifics are resting preparatory to another boost. There is steady accumulation of Sugar and lower Wall street crowd predicts a rise shortly. Something is evidently brewing that will be favorable to Illinois Central, which will be ex-rights tomorrow. Other good things are Peoples Gas, Manhattan and Steels. Hold Pacific Coast and buy Eries.—Josephs.

The following is a complete summary of yesterday's official transactions on the Pittsburgh stock exchange. It shows the change in the closing selling prices, compared with the last preceding sales, the total sales of each security, the opening, high, low and closing prices and final bids and offers:

All nearby towns are ordering in large quantities, dealers having waited as long as possible in hope of lower prices, which have not come. Shipments of peaches are principally from Michigan, where crops are unusually heavy, while in other peach-growing sections the yields are light.

Coffee and Sugar.

NEW YORK, Sept. 18.—Coffee futures opened steady, with prices 5 points lower, affected by easier cables and light room liquidation. Subsequently the market became more active and rallied partly 5 points on covering, inspired by a partial recovery in the late French market. During the day the usual bear operators were the chief sellers, and demand came principally from the bull leaders and shorts. Heavy exchanges of nearby for the later positions were a feature of the transactions. At the close September stiffened up a further 5 points, closing net 5 points higher, and other months unchanged to 5 points lower, with the tone steady. Sales were 37,250 bags, including September, 5.20@5.25c; December, 5.35@5.40c; January, 5.40@5.45c; March, 5.60c; May, 5.70@5.75c; July, 5.85@5.90c. The Mellon National bank statement is an agreeable one to the street. Deposits are $12,828,362, and the surplus and undivided profits show an increase of $76,262 for the 63 days, or at the rate of nearly 23 per cent for the year.

A Washington correspondent says that the banks are depositing more bonds with the treasury as security for increased government deposits in banks than the public is aware of and that the amount will be nearly $10,000,000 within a week.

It is figured out that of 54 promotions of new companies of importance in Philadelphia during 1890, four have liquidated, two have gone into receiverships, six have been reorganized, nine have paid no dividends, four have discounted dividends and but nine are now paying stockholders anything.

In explanation of the one point rise in Pennsylvania the gossips have it that the next dividend on the stock is to be increased because of the very large earnings of the company, while the talk also continued of new and important relations with New York, New Hampshire & Hudson.

The Columbia National bank in its statement just issued shows deposits of $5,715,191, an increase since July 16 of $482,590. The surplus and undivided profits are $1,080,942, or at the rate of nearly 24 per cent for the year. The deposits at the last statement showed a gain of $497,657 in the preceding 77 days, and the gain since February 5 is $1,016,455.

The selling of Brooklyn Rapid Transit on the advance was said to come from leading interests that are supposed generally to be bullish on the stock and property. The report has gone out lately that the August statement of the company will make a very favorable showing and on the strength of that, it is believed, there has been some inside selling.

Brokers that act usually for Gould interests were the largest buyers of Manhattan when that issue advanced to the highest price recorded for it in some time. The purchasers at that time said that the buying was based on the increased earnings of the company and the belief that with electricity on the Sixth and Ninth avenue lines the earnings will expand steadily.

A report was current in Wall street that the selling of St. Paul Tuesday, at least 10,000 shares of stock, had been for the account of the late Nicholas Fish. From good authority it can be said that it was not the case and that the selling was for a grain and stock house with which Mr. Fish never had relations. St. Paul was the leader of the market in point of strength. There is a considerable short interest in it.

A Wall street broker wires: Where easy money is to come from I cannot see. If we call on Europe for much gold they in return will call on us for the money we are borrowing from them. The treasury is taking from $500,000 to $1,000,000 a day out of circulation. We have as yet furnished very little money to move the crop. The $7,000,000 of gold on the way will help, but it is only a drop in the bucket. Next month half of the $42,000,000 of new Baltimore & Ohio stock has to be taken care of. Considering all these questions we do not see how we can have much of a market. Conditions are very unsatisfactory to the customer and broker. Money, while easier yesterday, was renewed at 9 per cent. We fear when the end of the month comes there will be much dissatisfaction, but the customer must realize that he is carrying stocks and will have to pay the cost. There is no decline in prices because as yet there is no liquidation.

EXCHANGES WERE HEAVY

Pittsburgh Bank Exchanges Continue Large Despite a Close Money Market.

Pittsburgh bank exchanges for yesterday were again quite heavy, being over $7,000,000, but cannot be compared with those for the same day last year, because the clearing house and banks were then closed out of respect for McKinley's funeral, which occurred during that day. Compared with the preceding Thursday, a loss of over $1,547,000 is shown. The local money market continues quite close and firm, with the rate for call and time loans at 5@6 per cent. The majority of the business is done at the maximum figure, but there is some money to be had at the minimum. The situation really appears very mixed—even more so than usual—some institutions having quite a good deal of money to loan and others practically nothing. The official clearing house reports in detail for the dayss mentioned are as follows:

	Exchanges.	Balances.
Yesterday	$7,056,851 59	$1,048,366 19

LARKIN'S SLEUTH MAY FIND SNAG IN ARMSTRONG

East End Police Magistrate Wants to See Some Authority.

INVESTIGATION OF POLICE METHODS

Controller Larkin Proposes to Keep Auditor Reilly Busy Until He Learns Who Certain People Are.

Ex-Alderman P. B. Reilly, one of the city auditors, who is making an examination for Controller Larkin into the methods prevailing in the police courts of Pittsburgh, with special reference to the imposing of fines and their remission later on, behind which alleged practice there is said to be much "political pull," is likely to strike a snag when he gets around to the police stations where Magistrate John H. Armstrong holds court and asks to look over the books. Auditor Reilly was able to get immediate access to the books of Magistrate McGarey, but Magistrate Armstrong is not sure that he will allow Reilly to go over his books. He does not believe that Reilly has any authority to go over the books, and will make him show that authority before allowing any examination to be made.

Armstrong Wants Authority.

The auditor met a courteous reception at Central station, and the officials there gave him every opportunity to make an examination. Magistrate McGarey indignantly denied that politics entered into the disposition of his business, and gave the auditor full access to the books.

"I do not know what authority Auditor Reilly has," said Magistrate Armstrong when asked yesterday what he expected to do, "and I do not think he has any. He will have to show me his authority before I will let him see the books at No. 6 station. My books are open to anyone who has any business with them. The whole city can look at them if necessary, but I intend to find out what authority the city auditor has to come and examine them. If he has the authority he can see them. If he has none he cannot see them. Business is on the square at No. 6 station."

Controller Larkin had a report yesterday from Auditor Reilly as to his discoveries at Central station, but he declines to state what was learned. The controller is very pronounced in his condemnation of the system in vogue in police affairs. He said yesterday:

Larkin Uses Plain Talk.

"It is pretty generally charged that the men who are getting rich by trafficking in vice in the lower part of the city are regular attendants at Central station, and that their business there is to have the fines of the people they traffic with remitted, and in many cases have the prisoners discharged. Supt. McAleese himself complains of this influence, and it is my duty as controller to see that fines and costs inflicted are turned over to the treasurer instead of having them returned to shameless agents who live and thrive on unfortunate men and women.

"If the people arrested in these raids are violators of the law they should, as McAleese says, be made to suffer, and any money penalty imposed after a fair hearing of the case should go to the city. If the charge is not sustained they should not be placed under obligations to men whose business it is to degrade people that they may profit by it.

"I may not succeed in preventing these hucksters in vice from demanding their pound of flesh or dividing a portion of their ill-gotten gains, but I will at least find out who the fellows are that hold up police courts, order jail deliveries when it suits them, and encourage crime that they may get its first fruit."

AFTER ANOTHER LEAK.

Controller Larkin Will Oppose Interest Payments to Those Having Water Lines to Sell.

Controller John B. Larkin has declared himself against the payment by the city of interest on money invested by private parties in water lines, which they afterward sell to the city. It is said that the matter will get into court.

It has been the custom for years for the city to pass ordinances permitting private parties to lay water lines and in the same ordinance obligate itself to buy these lines at some future time. When the time has come to buy the lines the city has been paying 4 per cent interest on the money invested from the time the lines were laid.

Controller Larkin does not believe the city has any right to obligate itself to buy these lines, as it is really a contract between the city and the private persons, and the city under the charter cannot enter into a contract to spend money which is not actually in the city treasury at the time.

JOHN UPPERMAN WILL BE CORPORATION'S HEAD

Will Succeed John Paul as Chairman. Select Council Acts on Paul's Death.

Select Councilman John Paul, concerning whose death select council took appropriate action yesterday afternoon, will be succeeded as chairman of select council's committee on corporations by John Upperman of the Fifteenth ward. The new chairman will be elected at the next meeting. Mr. Upperman has been a member of the committee on appropriations for several years, and for some time past has been its actual leader.

The corporations committee is a most important one, as all corporations that operate under city franchises must first knock at its door. It is not a joint committee, being composed of select council members only, and because of this its legality has often been seriously questioned, though the matter has never been taken to court for a test. Until a ruling is asked and secured this committee will pass upon all matters as described, and the chairman will exert a powerful influence regarding the terms upon which corporations are empowered to do business in the city. John Upperman has been the de facto chairman of the committee for several years, as Mr. Paul's health was so poor and his hearing so defective that Mr. Upperman generally sat beside him and suggested as to what should be done.

The franchise ordinance of the Wabash railroad and that of the Pennsylvania railroad for elevated tracks on Duquesne way will have to go through this committee when they are presented. Mr. Upperman is known to have pronounced ideas concerning these franchises.

Select council met in special session yesterday afternoon and took appropriate action on the death of Mr. Paul. George N. Munro, a former member of select council from the Twenty-eighth ward, and a colleague of the deceased member, sat with President John S. Lambie behind the desk. After the calling of the roll Samuel J. Wainwright, Jr., of the Eighteenth ward, moved that a committee be appointed to draft suitable resolutions, and the appointment of the following committee by President Lambie, made heretofore, was approved: Mr. Wainwright, John A. Murphy, John Benz, J. W. Ruhlandt, John Upperman, Thomas E. Perry and Robert H. Douglas. The minute reported by this committee was adopted.

Brief addresses were made by Mr. Munro, Mr. Douglas of the Twenty-first ward, Mr. Murphy of the Twentieth ward, and President Lambie. The desk which Mr. Paul occupied for so many years was draped in black, and the allusions to it by the speakers showed the depth of respect in which the venerable member from the Thirty-second ward was held. Before adjourning the branch decided to meet in the select council chamber at 1:30 o'clock tomorrow afternoon to attend the funeral in a body.

CAMPBELL'S.
Interesting to Every Woman.

Many of the new fall skirts, especially the walking styles, are made without linings, and yet many ladies at times would like to wear them with linings. To meet this want, we have had made up several lines of drop skirts which can be used with any style of skirt—in several grades but special attention is called to a line of black taffeta silk skirts of excellent quality silk, two ruffles, full width and just ready for the band—at the very low price of $5.00—far cheaper than you can buy the silk and have them made up—dressmakers should be particularly interested in this offering.
